

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments | 7

INTRODUCTION

Camp Comforts

Reparative Gay Literature in Times of AIDS | 11

PART ONE: CAMP CARE

With Your Health Held High

The Camp Probing of the Ideology of Caring
in Adam Mars-Jones' Monopolies of Loss | 47

Drag and Drugs and Rockin' Roles

Medicine, Poetry and Camp Performativity
in Rafael Campo's What the Body Told | 87

PART TWO: CAMP ELEGIES

In Sheep's Clothing

Genre Camp and the Invasion of the Pastoral Elegy
in Alan Hollinghurst's The Folding Star | 139

Shepherds on Horseback

Genre Camp and the Invasion of the American Western in Annie Proulx's "Brokeback Mountain" | 189

PART THREE: CAMP META-FICTIONS

Follow the Yellow Brick Interstate Highway

Camp Meta-Fictions and the Recovery of a Proto-Gay
Childhood in Geoff Ryman's Was | 221

AFTERWORD

Towards a Recuperation of Reparative

Reading Practices

A Tribute to Eve Sedgwick | 275

WORKS CITED

Bibliography | 283