

About the authors

Gordana Đurović obtained her PhD at the Economic Faculty of the University of Montenegro, Podgorica and is currently Minister for European Integration in the Government of Montenegro.

Deniz Genç is based at the European Union Institute of Marmara University, Istanbul. He studied for his Masters at the University of Lund, Sweden, and has published in the fields of political science, migration and multiculturalism. e-mail: deniz-genç@ymail.com.

Damjan Kozamernik PhD is Director of the Analysis and Research Centre of the Bank of Slovenia and a member of the Monetary Policy Committee at the European Central Bank. His research mainly comprises the fields of macroeconomic transmission and institutional impacts on labour market behaviour. e-mail: Damjan.Kozamernik@bsi.si.

Lucia Kurekova is a PhD student in the Department of International Relations and European Studies of the Central European University. Her PhD thesis focuses on labour market dynamics in the expanding EU. e-mail: kurekova_lucia@ceu-budapest.edu.

Milivoje Radović obtained his PhD from the Economic Faculty of the University of Montenegro, Podgorica, where he is currently Director of the management study programme.

Anna Rocheva is at the Department of Sociology, St. Petersburg State University. e-mail: anna.rocheva@gmail.com.

Inna Romanova is at the Institute of Finance of the Faculty of Economics and Management of the University of Latvia. e-mail: inna.romanova@lu.lv

Ramona Rupeika-Apoga Dr. is Reader in the Department of Finance and Credit of the University of Latvia, Riga. e-mail: ramona.rupeika-apoga@lu.lv.

Chris Wright is at the Department of Politics and International Studies of the University of Cambridge. e-mail: cflw2@cam.ac.uk

Elvīra Zelgalve Prof. Dr. is Professor of Finance and Head of the Department of Finance at the Faculty of Economics and Management of the University of Latvia. e-mail: elzelg@lanet.lv

Tina Žumer is Advisor to the Governor of the Bank of Slovenia. e-mail: tina.zumer@bsi.si.