

List of Contributors

---

ALESSANDRO ARCANGELI is Associated Professor of Early Modern History at the Department of Tempo, Spazio, Immagine, Società (TeSIS), University of Verona, Italy. His main research interests are cultural history of the body in Europe, 1400-1700: moral, medical and political discourses on dance, leisure and recreation, and cultural history methods and historiography (Italian and global).
Contact: alessandro.arcangeli@univr.it.

FEDERICO BARBIERATO is lecturer in Early Modern History at the University of Verona, Italy. His current research interests are cultural history, the history of the book, the history of writing and reading as well as religious dissent in Early Modern Europe.
Contact: federico.barbierato@univr.it.

EIVIND ENGBRETSSEN is Professor at the University of Oslo, Norway. His research interests focus (inter alia) on Philosophy and History of Science, knowledge translation and translational research, History of public health and power and prestige.
Contact: eivind.engebretsen@medisin.uio.no.

ANNE ERIKSEN is Professor of Cultural History, University of Oslo, Norway. She specializes in popular religion, collective memory and the concept of history and heritage.
Contact: anne.eriksen@ikos.uio.no.

MARJO KAARTINEN is senior lecturer in Cultural History at the University of Turku, Finland. She is director of Turku Center for Medieval and Early Modern Studies. Her research interests are especially Women's History in England with special focus to their spaces and places, and the history of bodies.
Contact: mkaartin@utu.fi.

ANU KORHONEN is university lecturer in European Area and Cultural Studies at the University of Helsinki, Finland. Her main research interests are cultural studies, historical theory and Early Modern bodies.

Contact: anu.korhonen@helsinki.fi.

JAN KUSBER is Professor of Eastern European History at the University of Mainz, Germany. His research interests are (inter alia) Russian history from 15th-20th century, the history of Poland in modern times and the history of the Soviet Union.

Contact: kusber@uni-mainz.de.

SIMONE LONARDI is Ph.D. student at the University of Padua. His research interests are political and cultural history, the history of espionage and the history of communication in Early Modern Europe.

Contact: simone.lonardi@katamail.com.

CHRISTINA LUTTER is Professor for Austrian History at the University of Vienna. Her research interests are Medieval and Early Modern cultural and gender history, as well as cultural theory and cultural studies.

Contact: christina.lutter@univie.ac.at.

ANE OHRVIK received her Ph.D. in Cultural History at the University of Oslo, Norway, and is working as an independent researcher. Her main research interests are early modern book history and manuscript culture, popular religion, witchcraft and magic, and ritual studies. Contact: ane.ohrvik@gmail.com.

PAOLO PERANTONI earned his degree in History and Geography of Europe at the University of Verona, Italy. His research interests are cultural and social history with a focus on material culture.

Contact: perantoni.paolo@gmail.com.

CAY-RÜDIGER PRÜLL is Professor of History, Theory and Ethics of Medicine at the University of Mainz, Germany. He specializes in the cultural and social history of medicine in modern times, the history of bio-medicine in 19th and 20th centuries and medicine and public in the 20th century.

Contact: pruell@uni-mainz.de.

JÖRG ROGGE is Professor of History, Middle Ages, at the University of Mainz, Germany. He is also Spokesperson of the Research Unit Historical Cultural Sciences, Mainz. His main research interests are methods and theory of historical cultural sciences and politics and culture in Late Medieval Europe.

Contact: rogge@uni-mainz.de.

RUBEN ZIMMERMANN is Professor of New Testament at the University of Mainz, Germany. His research interests are (inter alia) the methodology and hermeneutics of the New Testament, ethics, forms of imagery (metaphor, symbol, myth) and gender studies.

Contact: zimmerru@uni-mainz.de.

