

Acknowledgments

This book is the outcome of a collaborative project carried out between 2017 and 2020. Firstly, we want to thank our colleagues at the Grassi Museum für Völkerkunde zu Leipzig and Leipzig University who supported the initiative but do not appear in the pages of this book, especially Ursula Rao. Secondly, we wish to acknowledge the funding received from the SFB 1199, Processes of Spatialization under the Global Condition (Leipzig University), through the European Research Council Starting Grant No. 803302, Indigeneities in the 21. Century (Philipp Schorch), and by the “Schroubek Fonds Östliches Europa”, based at the Institute for European Ethnology and Cultural Analysis at Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität Munich. Last but not least, we express our gratitude for the thorough editorial assistance provided by Ira Eue, Tomislav Helebrant and Philip Saunders; and for the rigorous comments on each chapter and the overall composition given by Irene Götz, editor of the transcript series on ‘Ethnografische Perspektiven auf das östliche Europa’. In memory of Ada Hajdu (1978–2020), whose article about the development of Romanian Art Historiography remains unfinished.

Philipp Schorch and Daniel Habit, November 2020

