

Contents

Acknowledgements	9
Introduction	11
Chapter I
Decolonizing knowledge	21
Chapter II
Euro-centric knowledge hegemony	33
"Old continent," old new hegemony	36
Cultural imperialism	39
Ethnocentric and individualistic European knowledge	41
Deliberative communication in the context of the (de)colonial turn	43
Chapter III
construction of subalternity subordination	45
Subaltern communication.
Otherorized journalism	52
Journalistic cultures within the framework of a thought-other	58
Colloid society as (eco/ethno)system of European thought-other	61
Chapter IV
journalistic-other cultures	67
European journalism-other . Contributions to a new regional model	71

Chapter V
Journalistic cultures of Eastern Europe	81
East o(r) West	85
Investigation(s) in communication and journalistic cultures of/in Eastern Europe	101
Chapter VI
Deliberative communication as a generator of one journalistic-other culture	111
Communication-other, development from (de)liberation	116
Communication for (de)liberation	124
Conclusions	131
Journalistic cultures of (no longer) Eastern Europe	149
Final curtain call	153
References	157