

Acknowledgments

We would like to express our gratitude to the Universität der Bundeswehr München and the library of the Carl von Ossietzky University of Oldenburg for providing funding to cover the open-access fees of this publication. In addition, we would like to acknowledge funding of the project “Pandemic Meets Fiction” by the Volkswagen Foundation and thank the directors of the project “Fiction Meets Science II: Varieties of Science Narrative,” in particular its two speakers—Anton Kirchhofer and Uwe Schimank—for backing our subproject. Finally, we would like to thank the Hanse-Wissenschaftskolleg—and Dorothe Poggel, specifically—for their support in organizing the workshop that was the starting point of this publication as well as their flexibility at a time when planning and hosting events was anything but easy.

