

Contents

List of Acronyms	13
Abstract	15
1. Introduction	17
1.1 Bread from a Stone: Material Reclamation in Turkey	19
1.2 The Goal of this Study	21
1.3 The Unrecognized Future of Waste Management	23
1.4 Assemblage Thinking and the Agency of Waste	24
1.5 Preliminary Research and Artistic Practice	29
1.6 Summary	32
2. Theoretical and Conceptual Framework	37
2.1 Theorization of Waste	37
2.1.1 Waste as Active Matter	40
2.1.2 Actant Ontology	40
2.1.3 Waste and Thing Power	43
2.2 Geographies of Waste	46
2.2.1 Second-hand Trade	47
2.2.2 Assemblage Urbanization and Incremental Construction	50
2.3 Waste Labor	59
2.3.1 Infrastructural Maneuvers	60
2.3.2 Informal Waste Labor in the Global South and Turkey	62
2.4 Conclusion	65

3. Methodological Reflections	69
3.1 Introduction	69
3.2 'Follow the Thing' Approach	71
3.3 Methods for Collecting Empirical Data	75
3.3.1 Participant Observation and Architectural Surveying	76
3.3.2 Interviews	77
3.3.3 Photography	80
3.3.4 The Research Process	84
3.4 Analyzing Empirical Data	86
3.5 Conclusion	90
4. Setting the Scene: Urbanization through Demolition and Redevelopment ...	93
4.1 Introduction	93
4.2 The Commodification of Land in the Ottoman Empire	94
4.3 State-led Developmentalism in the Early Days of the Turkish Republic	96
4.3.1 Menderes' Demolition Operations in Istanbul	97
4.3.2 Phase 1: Apartmentalization in Istanbul	98
4.4 Emerging Informal Urbanization and the gecekondu	101
4.4.1 Construction Methods and Architectural Properties	104
4.4.2 Role of Ardiyes as Supply Yards and Credit Providers	106
4.5 Economic Liberalization in the 1980s	109
4.5.1 Phase 2: Gecekondu Apartmentalization	110
4.5.2 Mayor Dalan and his Demolitions	112
4.6 Neoliberal Development in the 2000s	114
4.6.1 Government Interventions for Urban Renewal Projects	115
4.6.2 Law No. 6306 on Disaster Prevention and Transformation of High-Risk Areas	118
4.6.3 Urban Renewal in Kadıköy due to Earthquake Risk	121
4.7 Conclusion	124
5. The Role of Unrecognized Labor	125
5.1 Introduction	125
5.2 Heterogenous Waste Management in Istanbul	126
5.2.1 Formal Actors: Municipalities and Licensed Waste Collection Companies	128
5.2.2 Unrecognized Actors: Çıkmacı	131
5.3 Building Demolition in Istanbul	134
5.3.1 Reclamation Processes	137

5.3.2	A Çıkmacı Family	141
5.3.3	Engin's Depot, a Family Business	145
5.3.4	Working with Refugees	148
5.4	The Circular Mobility of the Çıkmacıs	150
5.4.1	Village Livelihood in Yazlıhüyük	151
5.4.2	Agricultural Activities	153
5.5	Conclusion	156
6.	Second-hand Trade Network	159
6.1	Introduction	159
6.2	Places of Accumulation: Çıkmacı Supply Yards in Istanbul	160
6.2.1	Asian Side	161
6.2.2	European Side	176
6.2.3	Overview of Supply Yards in Istanbul	182
6.3	Demolisher Supply Yards in Anatolia	183
6.3.1	Ankara: A Demolisher Cooperative	183
6.3.2	Kayseri - Local Suppliers	187
6.3.3	Nevşehir and Niğde - The Motherland of the Çıkmacıs	191
6.3.4	Overview of Supply Yards in Anatolia	192
6.4	Second-hand Export: Georgia	193
6.5	Discussion of Findings	197
7.	Nonhuman Agency	201
7.1	Introduction	201
7.2	Active Matter Before and After Reclamation	202
7.2.1	The Excess of Second-Hand PVC Window Frames	203
7.2.2	PVC as a Raw Material	204
7.2.3	Recovering PVC	207
7.2.4	Asbestos Exposure	207
7.2.5	The Agency of Toxic Materials	210
7.3	The Utilization of Reclaimed Materials in Buildings	211
7.3.1	Construction in the High Plateau: Susuz - Kastamonu	212
7.3.2	The Village of Çıkmacıs : Yazlıhüyük - Nevşehir	216
7.3.3	Eskişehir Bağları - Kayseri	219
7.3.4	Micro-district: Gldani - Tbilisi	222
7.3.5	Architectural Reuse	225
7.4	Remarks	226

8. Conclusion	229
8.1 Research Overview	230
8.1.1 Theoretical Framework	230
8.1.2 Following Things on Multi-sites	233
8.2 Empirical Overview	235
8.3 The Commons and Material Reclamation	241
8.4 Research Restrictions and Potential Proposals for Future Work	244
Acknowledgements	247
Bibliography	249

They're tearing apart the house next door. They're like butchers: They separate out the meat (useful parts such as glass, doors, tiles, etc.) and throw the bones (bricks, plaster, mortar, etc.) into a truck and dump it somewhere down the road.

—from a short story cited in (Atay 1991, 76; my translation)

