

About the Authors

Julia Kramer is researcher at the Ruhr University Bochum.

Sabina Krispenz is a 6th semester law student at the University of Heidelberg, Germany and a graduate assistant.

Josef Le is researcher at the Ruhr University Bochum.

Marija Obradović Dr. is an Associate of the Institute of Recent History of Serbia, Belgrade and a widely-published member of the Editorial Board of the Institute's publication Tokovi Istorije.

Ninucia-Maria Pilat is a PhD candidate at MiniArc, Cevipol Université libre de Bruxelles. npilat@ulb.ac.be Qerim Qerimi is at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law, Heidelberg, Germany.

Bruno S. Sergi is professor at the University Messina, Italy and is member of the editorial board of SEER

Christophe Solioz is currently Secretary-General of the Centre for European Integration Strategies. He has been the co-ordinator of various projects in civil society development and in transition and democratisation processes in post-Yugoslave republics and has published widely on the region. His most recent works are: with Hannes Swoboda (2007) Conflict and Renewal: Europe Transformed Baden-Baden: Nomos; and with Srđan Dvornik (2007) Next Steps in Croatia's Transition Process. Problems and Possibilities Baden-Baden: Nomos. www.ceis-eu.org; www.christophesolioz.ch. e-mail: csolioz@mac.com

Wolfgang Tiede is an expert on public accounting law and transformation processes in eastern and south-eastern Europe; previously, he worked as a research and teaching assistant for the Chair for Eastern European Law (Prof. Dr. Dr. h.c. Martin Fincke) at the University of Passau.

Manfred Wannöffel is professor at the Ruhr University Bochum.

Yosif Yosifov is a research student assistant in the Faculty of Economics of Otto-von-Guericke University, Magdeburg, Germany. He specialised in health care management in the Bulgarian Agency of Economic Analyses and Forecasts in March 2007.