About the Authors

Daniela Ana is a postdoctoral researcher at the Leibniz Institute of Agricultural Development in Transition Economies (IAMO) in Halle/Saale, Germany. She is a social anthropologist whose research focuses on human-environment relations, labour and migration. Her recent published work includes the monograph 'Wine is our Bread: Labour and Value in Moldovan Winemaking'. Ana worked in Germany's trade union and labour consultancy sector between 2020 and 2022. e-mail: ana@iamo.de.

Belina Bedini Dr. is a lecturer and Deputy Dean at the Faculty of Political Sciences and Law at University 'Aleksandër Moisiu', Durrës, Albania. Her research interests are in the fields of governance, comparative politics, the history of international relations and reformation. Her most recent work is 'The role of ethnic minorities and the diaspora in the anti-fascist resistance in Albania' in A. Ahlbäck and K. Braskén (Eds) Anti-Fascism and Ethnic Minorities: History and Memory in Central and Eastern Europe published by Routledge in 2023. e-mail: belinabedini@uamd.edu.al.

Ardita Borici PhD is Associate Professor in Economics and Statistics in the Faculty of Economics or 'Luigj Gurakuqi' University, Shkodër, Albania. She earned her PhD in Economics at the University of Tiranë in 2010. e-mail: ardita.borici@unishk.edu.al.

Andrei Botorog is a research assistant at the Institute for Social Research and at the Professorship for International Political Economy. He is an MA student in International Studies/Peace and Conflict Research at Goethe University, Frankfurt/Main. His main research interests include labour markets, financialisation and geoeconomics. e-mail: botorog@em.uni-frankfurt.de Ela Golemi PhD is Associate Professor and a member of the Economics Department in the Faculty of Business at University 'Aleksandër Moisiu', Durrës, Albania. Her research interests focus mainly on issues related to the stability of the financial system and the regional strategies of the western Balkans for integration in the European Union. She is also a member of the Editorial Board of the SEER Journal. e-mail: elagolemi@uamd.edu.al.

Alba Kruja is a statistical specialist in the Shkodër regional office of INSTAT, the Albanian Statistical Agency, as well as a part-time professor at 'Luigj Gurakuqi' University, Shkodër, Albania. e-mail: alba_kruja@hotmail.com

Anxhela Llaftiu is a PhD candidate at University 'Aleksandër Moisiu', Durrës, Albania, where she is also a part-time lecturer in political economics. Her research focus lies in issues of social economics. e-mail: anxhelallaftiu@yahoo.it.

Peter Scherrer is Advisor to the European Trade Union Confederation on the Western Balkans and a board member of the SEER Journal for Labour and Social Affairs. He works also as a freelance journalist in the north-east of Germany. e-mail: pscherrer@etuc.org.

https://doi.org/10.5771/1435-2869-2023-2-271 https://www.inlibra.com/de/page/agb - Open Access - CC BY

Christophe Solioz was involved from the early 1990s in various citizens' initiatives in the former Yugoslavia, most notably in the Helsinki Citizens' Assembly (hCa). A founder member of the Association Bosnia and Herzegovina 2005 (2003-05) and, later on, of the Centre for European Integration Strategies (2005-14), he was Professor of Philosophy and German literature at the College de Genève (2013-22) and, in 2022, initiated the Multiplex Approach (MAP) Nomad Seminar. He has written extensively on transition and democratisation as well as on EU integration and regionalism in south-east Europe.

Christian Sperneac-Wolfer MA is a research associate at the Institute for Social Research and a graduate student at Goethe University, Frankfurt. His main research interests include migrant work, labour exploitation and secular as well as religious critiques of capitalism. e-mail: sperneac@em.uni-frankfurt.de Paul Sperneac-Wolfer MA is a PhD researcher in the ERC-project FOODCIRCUITS at the University of Barcelona. His main research interests include intensified food systems, eastern European migration and developing ethnographic methodologies along collaborative and multimodal lines. e-mail: paul.s-wolfer@web.de.

Ferdinand Sutterlüty Dr. is a professor of sociology at Goethe University, Frankfurt. His main research interests include resistance studies, authoritarianism, sociology of violence and crime, family and youth sociology, social theory and qualitative methods of social research. e-mail: sutterluety@em.uni-frankfurt.de.

Eleonora Ushatova-Kalinova PhD has professional experience in political marketing and political analysis implemented in state institutions, political parties and non-governmental organisations in Bulgaria. She lives and works in Sofia. Her main research interests include: policy studies, political and institutional analysis, civil organisations and movements. Her (2023) dissertation topic is 'The role of the ombudsman in the development of civil society in Bulgaria - civil participation'. e-mail: e.ushatova@gmail.com.

Ştefan Voicu is a research fellow in the 'IMPACT HAU' project based at the University of Bologna. He is working on a comparative project on the moral claims made by investors engaged in different forms of sustainable finance. Previously, he researched the transformations of arable land property relations and agri-food commodity chains in postsocialist Romania in connection to the financialisation of global capitalism. He is interested in researching the multiple intersections of financialised capitalism, agrarian class formation, uneven development and environmental change. e-mail: stefanvalentin.voicu@unibo.it.

https://doi.org/10.5771/1435-2869-2023-2-271 https://www.inlibra.com/de/page/agb - Open Access - (cc) BY