

About the Authors

Dragan Đurić works at the Ministry for International Economic relations and European Integration, Government of the Republic of Montenegro.

Pavel Janíčko CSc, Doc. Ing. graduated from the University of Economics, Prague in 1980. He now works as a senior advisor at the Czech Moravian Confederation of Trade Unions and is a member of several committees and advisory councils dealing with the co-ordination of employment policy in the Czech Republic. He leads economic lectures and courses at a number of Czech universities and is the author of many publications on employment and social policy.

Heribert Kohl is director of the consultancy “Büro für wissenschaftliche Publizistik und Beratung“ (BwP) in Erkrath, Germany.

Darko Marinković is at Megatrend University, Belgrade and is a member of the Editorial Board of the South-East Europe Review.

Vladimir Marinković is at the High Business School, Belgrade.

Natalia Piskulova is Professor at the Moscow State Institute (University) of International Relations (MGIMO) and holds a PhD in Economics. Her special areas of interest include the environmental aspects of trade and investment; business culture; the competitive advantages of nations; and oil and gas markets. She is the author and co-author of papers and books on these issues. e-mail: piskulova55@mail.ru

Wolfgang Tiede is an expert on European Union law and transformation processes in eastern Europe; previously, he worked as a research and teaching assistant at the chair for Eastern European Law (Prof. Dr. Dr. h.c. Martin Fincke) at the University of Passau.

Christine Simon is a law student at the University of Bayreuth.

Ilona Švihlíková PhD, Ing. graduated from the University of Economics, Prague in 2002. She works as a teacher at the University of Economics and at the University of International and Public Relations. She leads courses in international economics and international economic relations, focusing on the tax system, international currencies and oil-related issues.

Irena Zareva is a research fellow at the Institute of Economics at the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences.