Hybrid Art Space

Urban Studies

Ludovica Tomarchio (1988) is an architect and researcher affiliated with the Technische Universität Berlin, where she was associated with the Collaborative Research Centre SFB 1265 “Re-Figuration of Spaces.” She previously held a postdoctoral position at TU Berlin before joining the Berlin University of the Arts (UdK), where she continues her work at the intersection of art, spatial practices, and digital culture.

Tomarchio earned her PhD from the Singapore University of Technology and Design (SUTD) in collaboration with the ETH Future Cities Laboratory. Her research combines spatial theory, media studies, and data-driven methods, with a focus on Hybrid Space and site-responsive artistic and architectural practices. She has collaborated with academic institutions and independent platforms across Europe and Asia and regularly develops workshops and public programs on contemporary spatial practices.
