

War and Conflict in Premodern Societies

IDEOLOGY AND HOLY LANDSCAPE IN THE BALTIC CRUSADES

by
GREGORY LEIGHTON

ARC HUMANITIES PRESS

WAR AND CONFLICT IN PREMODERN SOCIETIES

Further Information and Publications

www.arc-humanities.org/our-series/arc/wcp/

IDEOLOGY AND HOLY LANDSCAPE IN THE BALTIC CRUSADES

by
GREGORY LEIGHTON

ARCHUMANITIES PRESS

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

© 2022, Arc Humanities Press, Leeds

This work is licensed under Creative Commons licence CC-BY-NC-ND 4.0.

The publication of this book was supported by a Book Publication Subvention from the Association for the Advancement of Baltic Studies.

The authors assert their moral right to be identified as the authors of their part of this work.

Permission to use brief excerpts from this work in scholarly and educational works is hereby granted provided that the source is acknowledged. Any use of material in this work that is an exception or limitation covered by Article 5 of the European Union's Copyright Directive (2001/29/EC) or would be determined to be "fair use" under Section 107 of the U.S. Copyright Act September 2010 Page 2 or that satisfies the conditions specified in Section 108 of the U.S. Copy-right Act (17 USC §108, as revised by P.L. 94-553) does not require the Publisher's permission.

ISBN (hardback): 9781641894548
e-ISBN (PDF): 9781802700596

www.arc-humanities.org

Printed and bound in the UK (by CPI Group [UK] Ltd), USA (by Bookmasters), and elsewhere using print-on-demand technology.

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	vi
Acknowledgements	x
Introduction	1
Chapter 1. Landscape Imagery in the Texts Documenting the Baltic Crusades	17
Chapter 2. Literary Themes and Landscape Sacralization in the Written Evidence for the Baltic Crusades	31
Chapter 3. Mapping Landscape Sacralization during the Baltic Crusades, Thirteenth to Fourteenth Centuries	65
Chapter 4. Relics, Processions, and Sacred Landscape in the Baltic, Thirteenth to Fourteenth Centuries	101
Chapter 5. Space, Visual Culture, and Landscape Sacralization in the Baltic.....	129
Conclusion	161
Concordance of Placenames	166
Appendix. Relics in the Baltic Region (Thirteenth to Sixteenth Centuries)	169
Abbreviations and Short Titles.....	179
Bibliography.....	181
Index	205

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

Maps

- Map 1. The Baltic region in the thirteenth to fourteenth centuries showing the main centres and castles of the military orders. 2
- Map 2. The missions of St. Adalbert of Prague and St. Otto of Bamberg. 66
- Map 3. Livonian crusade of 1205 (after Henry of Livonia). 74
- Map 4. Crusade of 1211 (after Henry of Livonia). 74
- Map 5. Hierophanies and martyrdoms in the Chronicle of Peter of Dusburg. 83
- Map 6. Route of crusades mentioned in the Chronicle of Peter of Dusburg (1233–1272). 86
- Map 7. Hierophanies and martyrdom in the Chronicle of Prussia, alongside pilgrimage shrines (thirteenth to fourteenth centuries). 86
- Map 8. Martyrdoms and hierophanies in Livonia and Prussia (thirteenth to fourteenth centuries). 88
- Map 9. Patron saints and churches in Prussia (thirteenth to fourteenth centuries). 88
- Map 10. Crusade patterns and relics in Livonia and Prussia (thirteenth to fourteenth centuries). 90
- Map 11. Main castles, churches, and commanderies of the military orders in Prussia and Livonia (thirteenth to fourteenth centuries). 136
- Map 12. Hierophanies and Teutonic Order castles or religious houses in the Baltic. 136
- Map 13. Martyrdom and Teutonic Order castles or religious houses. 137
- Map 14. Relics and Teutonic Order castles or religious houses. 137

Figures

Figure 1. Tomb of St. Meinhard, Riga Cathedral.	3
Figure 2. Church of St. Meinhard at Üxküll.	4
Figure 3. a: Pöide Church (taken from the nearby hillfort); b: Exterior of Pöide Church.	39
Figure 4. a: Karja Church, thirteenth century; b, c, d: Leaf and floral sculptures, Karja Church.	53
Figure 5. Vine sculptures, Kaarma Church (fifteenth century?).	54
Figure 6. Sculpted baptismal font, Church of St. Nicholas, Elbing (ca. 1270).	55
Figure 7. a: Golden Gate, Marienburg (ca. 1280); b: detail of the Golden Gate, showing the Wise Virgins.	56
Figure 8. Sculpted friezes at Kulm Cathedral.	57
Figure 9. Cathedral portal, Frauenburg (ca. 1290)..	58
Figure 10. a: Stork fresco, Lochstedt; b: Chapel interior, Lochstedt.	60
Figure 11. "Martyrdom of St. Adalbert of Prague," Gniezno Doors (ca. 1175).	68
Figure 12. Karuse Church of St. Margaret (thirteenth century), Saaremaa. Burial place of Otto of Lutterberg (d. 1270).	78
Figure 13. Kulmsee Cathedral, exterior and interior.	94
Figure 14. The Chapel of St. Anne (ca. 1344), sculpture of the Legend of the Discovery of the True Cross, Marienburg.	120
Figure 15. Castle Chapel at Thorn.	124
Figure 16. Castle mound at Althaus.	138
Figure 17. North wall of the Virgin Chapel at Marienburg (ca. 1344).	150
Figure 18. South wall of the Virgin Chapel at Marienburg (ca. 1344).	150
Figure 19. Statue of Apostle (fourteenth century), Kulm Cathedral.	152

Figure 20. "Mary Conquers the Devil," Arnau (late fourteenth century)..	153
Figure 21. Statue of the Virgin at Marienburg (ca. 1380).	154
Figure 22. "Nine Worthies," Lochstedt.	157
Figure 23. "Moses Receives the Ten Commandments," Lochstedt.	158
Figure 24. "St. George Slays the Dragon," Lochstedt.	159

To the memory of my grandfather, Benjamin
(June 29, 1933–May 26, 2017)
and of my grandmother, Emma
(November 13, 1933–July 8, 2022)

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

MY THANKS GO to many people who have helped me over the years preparing this book. First and foremost, I am indebted to my PhD supervisors at Cardiff University, Prof. Helen Nicholson and Dr. Jenny Benham, and the examiner of my PhD thesis, Dr. Alan V. Murray. Your support, guidance, and enthusiasm for my project were constant and steady, especially as the book went from thesis to monograph. I am also greatly indebted to Prof. Florin Curta and Prof. Jochen Burgdorf, whose never-ending encouragement, availability to talk, and friendship, helped me when times were tough.

I am indebted to the many people over the course of my research. To Fr. Veiko Vihuri, I cannot thank you enough for being my guide through the churches in Saaremaa. Various conferences, particularly the International Medieval Congresses in Leeds and Kalamazoo, the Ordines Militares. Colloquia Torunensia Historica in Toruń, and the 9th Quadrennial Conference of the Society for the Study of the Crusades in the Latin East in Odense afforded me the opportunity to exchange ideas and receive very helpful criticisms. I am particularly grateful for my exchanges with Prof. Udo Arnold, Prof. Werner Paravicini, Prof. Jürgen Sarnowsky, Dr. Dieter and Prof. Marie-Luise Heckmann, Prof. Krzysztof Kwiatkowski, Prof. Roman Czaja, Dr. Janusz Trupinda, Prof. Kurt Villads-Jensen, Prof. Torben Kjersgaard-Nielsen, Prof. Anti Selart, Dr. Piotr Pranke, and many, many others. I would also like to take the opportunity to thank the staff in the Geheimes Staatsarchiv Preußischer Kulturbesitz, in Berlin, for their patience and assistance in navigating the archive.

The very fact that this book is appearing as a monograph is thanks to Prof. John D. Hosler, who encouraged me to submit the manuscript to ARC Humanities Press as part of the War and Conflict in Premodern Societies series. I also would like to thank Dr. Anna Henderson and Dr. Becky Straple for their wonderful editorial work and swift responses to my many emails. To the two peer reviewers, I am very grateful for your comments on the manuscript and your suggestions to make it better. Any errors that remain are my own.

To my friends in the UK, Belgium, the Netherlands, Germany, Russia, Poland, Spain, and the United States: Thank you for always listening to me go on about my work and being there for me. I also want to thank my family for their love and constant belief in me. Mom, without your encouragement and support, none of this would have been remotely possible. I have yet to know anybody stronger, more generous, or more resilient than you, and I cannot begin to thank you. Finally, I would like to thank my grandmother. She, before anyone else, noted my passion for history and told me to run with it. Mom-Mom, thank you so much. This book is for you and for Pop-Pop.

Toruń, February 2022.