

Contents

Abbreviations9

Ethical Consideration 11

Abstract.....13

Introduction.....15

Aims15

Main Research Questions18

Organization and Literature 20

Chapter 1. “Ambiguity in Lived Body Experiences”..... 29

1.1 Technical details and Setup 32

1.2 Interviews..... 33

1.3 Conclusions to draw from the Intervention 40

1.4 Cognitive science and cognitive technology41

1.5 Phenomenological distinction of Body Awareness: Körper and Leib..... 45

1.6 Own-body-perception and Out-of-body experience (OBE)..... 46

1.7 Importance of Active Movement in Perception 58

1.8 Subject-Object Relations in VR 62

1.9 Self-Narration and Action in VR 70

1.10 Responsible Subject in VR 73

1.11 Lack of Flesh in Virtual Body and Coexistence in Both Realms 76

1.12 Subjective Vision and Productivity of the Observer 79

1.13 VR as a Lacanian Mirror..... 83

Chapter 2. The Machine To Be Another (MTBA)	87
2.1 “Ich bin du, du bist ich”: A Workshop Series With MTBA	88
2.2 Technical Details and Setup (2015's Body Swap)	91
2.3 Conclusions from MTBA and Further Insights	93
2.4 Empirical Methods for Measuring Presence in VR	95
2.5 Body Swap and Body Ownership in VR	96
2.6 Spinoza and Bodies in Motion	100
2.7 Gender Swap in VR	102
2.8 On the dangers of empathy	105
2.9 Virtual and Cognitive Architecture of the Body	111
 Chapter 3. Exhibition Project: “sit behind my eyes”	 129
3.1 Unheimlicher Körper	131
3.2 Materiality of flesh-body and Euclidean spaces	134
3.3 Abjection and Autoaffection	140
3.4 Body Image and Body Schema	144
3.5 The phenomenon of phantom limb	154
3.6 Phenomenological Approach to Phantom Limb Phenomenon	158
3.7 Biotechnology and Disability	177
 Conclusion	 183
 Bibliography	 191
Online Media	208
Interviews	209
Conferences (Unpublished)	210