way, have you ever received an award for all you have done for society?

I might mention the fact that I have been one of the three winners of the 'Grand Prix de l'Information Scientifique' instituted by the (French) National Center of Scientific Research in 1961, this prize being awarded to me for a project for the organization of STI which I had drafted with the assistance of Calvin Mooers (Boston). This work - which did not have any practical follow-up, nor did the other prize-winning works, by the way - was printed in two editions of the collective work entitled L'Organisation de la Documentation Scientifique (Paris: Gauthiers-Villars). But it had, one might say, a certain 'fall-out' in my introduction to the volume on documentation networks published under the direction of R.Guilloux.

Thank you, Eric, for letting us share the many wonderful experiences you must have had in your apparently most adventurous, rich and eventful life! You have been indeed a hard worker in the past 65 years just to be able to keep going, but a creative one too! It is surely strange that so much of your thoughts and writings have never seen the "light of the day".

Now, after having learned of the many activities in which you have been involved we only begin to get an idea what you could have taught us in the relatively few events which brought us together.

We surely hope for many more occasions to have you with us and to hear your opinion and to get your advice concerning the problems which you have mastered throughout your life, and especially regarding the organization of knowledge. Thank you once more for this precious interview!
