

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
-------------------------------	---

TanGib – Two Places, One City?

Ethnological Views of the Strait	9
--	---

1. Myths, rhythms, senses	15
1.1. Geography and power	15
1.2. Rhythm and Senses	16
1.3. On the sea: Boughaz – Straits – Estrecho	22
1.4. Time	31
1.5. Urban planning and architecture	35
2. Theoretical accesses	41
2.1. Structures: Cosmopolitanism, networks, diasporas, cultural areas	43
2.2. Internalizations: Ethnicity, transculturation, trance and obsession, penetration, reflection, self	53
3. Access methods	69
3.1. Seville	77
3.2. Gibraltar	78
3.3. Tangier	81
3.4. The regional embedding: Gibraltar, Tangier and their hinterland	83
3.5. TanGib 2019/20	88
4. Common history until 1956	91
4.1. Portugal and England	92
4.2. The 19 th century	97
4.3. Treaty of Fez and international statute	110
4.4. The Spanish Civil War and World War II	114
4.5. 1948 Alija and later	122
4.6. The 1950s – Tangier before independence	127

5. The loosening of Transboughazian bonds	137
5.1. 1956 to 1960 – A special status for Tangier?	138
5.2. 1960ff – Swan song on TanGib. Provisionally?	143
5.3. 1964 to 1973 – Increasing provincialization of Tangier and border problems in Gibraltar	148
5.4. 1973-1999 Tangier struggles through the Years of Lead and Gibraltar integrates into the EU	156
6. An ethnology of multiple connections	165
7. Reordering borders, dynamization and a new rapprochement	199
7.1 Dynamization of TanGib	200
7.2 Migration	201
7.3 Infrastructure: Transboughaz routes	204
7.4 Moroccan Gibraltarians	205
7.5 Cultural heritage	209
7.6 Other links between Tangier and Gibraltar	213
8. Brexit: An ethnography of agony with hopeful glances to the other side of the Strait	215
8.1 Political status	219
8.2 Foreign policy implications	221
8.3 Economy	222
8.4 Gibraltar and Morocco Business Association (GMBA) and Strait of Gibraltar Association (SGA)	226
8.5. Social and Cultural links	229
8.6. Conclusion	233
8.7. Addendum: Corona	234
9. Conclusion	237
9.1. What is the next step with TanGib?	237
9.2. Conclusions regarding the theoretical approaches	241
9.3 Final remark	245
References	247