Apologies

Dear reader,

After two years of discussion we decided on a submission- and editorial system to make the work of our authors and reviewers and of course our own work a little bit more comfortable. Experienced in management(studies) we had a dry installation first, extensive tests second and last not least a tutorial for the editorial team before the system get started. But the devil is in the details.

Meanwhile the system runs pretty well. However we would like to apologize for the substantial delay in publishing issue 2.

The editorial team