
A Note from the Editor

After four years of very good work as editor of book reviews Clément Arsenault (Université de Montréal) resigned last spring. Clément assumed the post at the same time that I became editor of the journal, and I have been very grateful for his good work during this time, as have our readers. We thank him for his contribution to our common goal, and we wish him all the best for the future.

I am pleased to announce that Joseph Tennis (from the iSchool at University of Washington, Seattle) has accepted the position of Reviews Editor. Joe is familiar to our members from his writing, both in Knowledge Organization and elsewhere, and from his very successful collaboration with Clément Arsenault as hosts of 2008's International ISKO Conference in Montréal. I will ask Joe to articulate his vision for the Reviews in his first issue (vol. 37, no. 1, 2010). In the meantime, books, software, etc. for review may be sent to him at: The Information School, Mary Gates Hall, Box 352840, Seattle, WA 98195 USA. If you are interested in contributing reviews, please contact him via email at: jtennis@u.washington.edu.

Richard. P. Smiraglia
Editor-in-Chief