

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
List of abbreviations	9
Introduction	11
Methodological and theoretical framework	18
Addressing the research subjects: The crux of labelling	23
Structure	27
Further notes	28
Chapter 1. Trans research: Of gender ambiguity, gender dysphoria and gender recognition	31
1.1 Gender non-conforming people from an anthropological perspective: A few selected cases	33
1.2 From sexual deviance to gender fluidity	37
1.3 The situation in Spain and Andalusia: From criminalisation to inclusion in the Public Health System	43
1.4 Some numbers	48
Chapter 2. Embodied feelings: The sense of self-awareness of others	51
2.1 Memories of sex and gender	53
2.2 The meaning of the genitalia in relation to sex/gender awareness	61
2.3 It's in the brain: The dualism between body and mind	71
2.4 Further thoughts about the concept of the body and dualism	76
Chapter 3. In search of a solution: Of agency and changing structures	81
3.1 Stopping a snowball in Andalusia	82
3.2 Sources of information and ways of adapting	85
3.3 Media as a source of information, representation and communication	93
3.4 Associations as points of information, support and political action	103
3.5 Conclusion	108

Chapter 4. To make a living	111
4.1 The work situation as a challenge	111
4.2 School and education	112
4.3 The tenacity of stereotypes	116
4.4 Sex work	118
4.5 Cabaret and entertainment	126
4.6 Being employed	142
4.7 Without a job	143
4.8 Concluding remarks	146
Chapter 5. Transfigured families	149
5.1 Of parents and siblings	150
5.2 Of partners and children	163
5.3 Who first to tell	168
5.4 Without familial support	170
5.5 Concluding remarks	174
5.6 Summary	175
Chapter 6. The quest for citizenship	177
6.1 The I Orgullo Trans (The first Trans Pride).....	178
6.2 Private and public / Intimacy and citizenship	191
6.3 Identity and community	195
6.4 Some further thoughts.....	201
Discussion	203
References	213
Index of Research Partners	225