

Contents

Introduction – Social Robotics and the Good Life The Normative Side of Forming Emotional Bonds With Robots Janina Loh, Wulf Loh	7
Part I – Understanding, Defining, Conceptualizing
Virtues, Robots, and Good Lives: Who Cares? Charles M. Ess	25
The Relational Turn Thinking Robots Otherwise David J. Gunkel	55
From Tool Use to Social Interactions Anna Strasser	77
Reflecting (on) Replika Can We Have a Good Affective Relationship With a Social Chatbot? Eva Weber-Guskar	103
Part II – Design, Imitation, Trust
You Can Love a Robot, But Should You Fight With it? Perspectives on Expectation, Trust, and the Usefulness of Frustration Expression in Human-Machine Interaction Jacqueline Bellon, Tom Poljanšek	129

Empathic Machines?

Ethical Challenges of Affective Computing from a Sustainable Development Perspective

Cordula Brand, Leonie N. Bossert, Thomas Potthast 157

Part III – Care, Love, Sex

Granny and the Sexbots

An Ethical Appraisal of the Use of Sexbots in Residential Care Institutions for Elderly People

Karen Lancaster 181

Alice Does not Care

Or: Why it Matters That Robots “Don’t Give a Damn”

Imke von Maur 209

Emotional Embodiment in Humanoid Sex and Love Robots

Cindy Friedman, Sven Nyholm, Lily Frank 233

Contributors 257