

Contributors' biographies

Khaing Zar Aung is president of the Industrial Workers Federation of Myanmar (IWFMM), an executive committee member of the Confederation of Trade Union Myanmar (CTUM), and a member of the Myanmar Labour Alliance.

Cecilia Brighi is general secretary of Italia-Birmania.Insieme.

Ramon A. Certeza is National Coordinator of IndustriALL in the Philippines and senior lecturer at the School of Labor and Industrial Relations of the University of the Philippines.

Elaine Sio-ieng Hui is on the board of the GLC and a professor of Labour and Employment Relations researching labour resistance and the role of the state and labour laws in labour relations.

Frank Hoffer is a former ILO official and a fellow of the Global Labour University.

Can Kaya is a trade unionist from Turkey. He worked as a communication officer for DISK (the Confederation of Progressive Trade Unions of Turkey) and now works with EPSU. He is an alum of the Global Labour University.

Başak Kocadost is an alum of the Global Labour University. She is pursuing her doctoral studies in sociology in Istanbul.

Svetlana Kolganova is a legal expert of the Seafarers' Union of Russia, and an alum of the Global Labour University.

Kaye Liang is a graduate from GLU's labour program, following Chinese labour issues.

Lizaveta Merliak is a Global Labour University alum, and the International Secretary of the Belarusian Independent Trade Union, BITU. The article is based on the author's experience in solidarity work of the union backed up by the international union movement during the post-election escalation of repression on the people of Belarus.

Christopher S.T. Mung is the executive director of the Hong Kong Labour Rights Monitor, which is a newly established UK-based NGO. Before relocating to the UK, he was the chief executive of the Hong Kong Confederation of Trade Unions for ten years, until it disbanded in 2021 under political threat.

Moreblessing Nyambara is the Gender and Social Welfare Secretary of Amalgamated Rural Teachers Union of Zimbabwe, a passionate human rights activist, and a mathematics teacher. She has a Master of Science Mathematics Education Degree and a master's in Labour Policies and Globalisation.

Yury Ravavoi is a specialist of the International Department NSZZ Solidarność and co-founder of a workers' association Rabochy Ruch in Belarus.

Melisa R. Serrano is a professor and director of the Center for Labor Justice at the School of Labor and Industrial Relations of the University of the Philippines.

Fundizwi Sikhondze is a trade unionist activist, researcher, and organiser from Eswatini (formerly Swaziland). He notably previously served as National Coordinator for Organising at the Swaziland Federation of Trade Unions (SFTU) and as the secretary general of the National Workers Union in Swaziland Higher Institutions (NAWUSHI). Fundizwi is a GLU Engage Programme alum and he is currently completing his master's degree in Labour Policy and Globalisation at the University of Witwatersrand.

Jana Silverman holds a PhD in labour economics from the Universidade Estadual de Campinas (UNICAMP) and is a post-doctoral scholar at the Center for Global Workers' Rights at Penn State University. She is also a researcher with the Centro de Estudos Sindicais e Economia do Trabalho (CESIT), Instituto de Economia, UNICAMP. Her research interests include Latin American labour relations regimes, contemporary Brazilian political economy, and domestic work. Previously, she was Country Programs Director for Brazil of the AFL-CIO Solidarity Center in Sao Paulo from 2012 to 2020.

Verna Dinah Q. Viajar is a post-doctoral fellow of the Rosa Luxemburg Stiftung, Berlin, Germany and a visiting research fellow at the School of Labor and Industrial Relations of the University of the Philippines.