

Contents

---

List of Figures .....	11
Acknowledgments .....	15
Notes on translation .....	17
Summary .....	19
Introduction .....	21

Part 1: Before choreography, expansion

Introduction to Part 1 .....	39
Chapter 1: Monsieur de Saint-Hubert's expanded choreographic poetics .....	43
Of ballet and of dance .....	45
A master of order .....	51
The subject of ballet .....	57
Conclusion .....	63
Chapter 2: Choreo-graphy or the incorporeal inscription of choreography .....	65
The ambivalent place of the body .....	68
The space of the dance .....	77
A graphic dance on paper .....	84
A choreo-graphic logic .....	92
Conclusion .....	97

Chapter 3: Stillness in nature's dance: expanded choreographies of the Italian Renaissance .....	99
Corporeal interstices and correspondences .....	101
The choreographies of music and of nature .....	108
Choreography in a world of proportion .....	112
Choreographies of the non-kinetic .....	117
Conclusion .....	121
Conclusion to Part 1 .....	123

Part 2: Expanded choreographies of the now

Introduction to Part 2 .....	129
Chapter 4: Programming (as) choreography: a series of kinect videos by Mathilde Chénin .....	135
A corporeal source of reference that is lost .....	138
Body, video, code – multiple choreographies .....	146
Adaptive choreographic data .....	151
Conclusion .....	157
Chapter 5: A choreography of the in-between: Olga Mesa's Solo a ciegas (con lágrimas azules) .....	159
Body, text, sound, film, lights – in relation .....	161
Doing choreography .....	168
Of what is related .....	173
In the between-ness .....	178
Conclusion .....	184
Chapter 6: Being (in) a choreographic object: William Forsythe's artificial nature installation in Groningen .....	187
A choreography of nature .....	190
A choreography of non-moving movement .....	197
To look at a tree happening .....	205
Conclusion .....	210
Conclusion to Part 2 .....	213

Part 3: Expanded modernities

Introduction to Part 3 .....	219
Chapter 7: The multiple choreographies of the Ballets Suédois' Relâche .....	227
Of dancing in a ballet .....	229
Of motion in the body .....	235
Arranging (expanded) choreography .....	239
Conclusion .....	244
Chapter 8: Looking at a world in movement: Rudolf Laban's work in industry .....	247
Anthropocentrism in question .....	251
Expanded movement .....	258
Managing movement .....	266
Conclusion .....	274
Chapter 9: Creation, imagination, paradise: lettrism's excursions
into choreography .....	277
Neither Diaghilev nor Graham, but Isou .....	280
Expanded choreographic excursion one: media crossings .....	287
Expanded choreographic excursion two: imagining choreography .....	297
Conclusion .....	304
Conclusion to Part 3 .....	307
Conclusion .....	311
Bibliography .....	323
Archival sources .....	323
Books, articles, online texts .....	326
Video, image, and audio sources .....	345
Interviews .....	345
Index .....	347

