

Contents

Introduction

Challenging Comfort in Contemporary Literature and Culture
Dorothee Birke / Stella Butter	7

Lexical-Semantic Analysis of ‘Comfort’

A Contrastive Perspective of English, European Portuguese, and Polish
Zuzanna Bułat Silva	21

On the Temptations of Comfort

The Poetics of Slothfulness in Pynchon
Burak Sezer	43

“A sort of strange beginning out of time”

Comfort as an Involuntary Cultural Memory
Elisa Carandina	65

Comfort in Contemporary Art

Shadow Works Against the Background of Blumenberg’s Notion of ‘Comfort in the Cave’
Angela Breidbach	85

Writing Dis/Comfort

A Novelist’s Approach to Ageing Bodies and Un/Comfortable Places
Sarah Butler	101

Are You Dwelling Comfortably?

Heidegger’s Home Comforts in The Goldfinch by Donna Tartt
Andrew Liston	117

Subverting Late Capitalist Comfort
Affective Connections in Deepak Unnikrishnan's Temporary People
Juliane Strätz 133

The Politics of Comfort in J.M. Coetzee's
*Diary of a Bad Year
Didymus Tsangue Douanla 149

Gothic Hauntings
Post-9/11 Home Spaces and the Dis/Comfort of American History in The Walking Dead
Dorothee Marx 167

Embracing Mindful Discomfort
Greta Gerwig's Lady Bird
Nourit Melcer-Padon 187

"These Seats Are So Comfy"
Livecasting and the Notion of Comfortable Theatre
Heidi Liedke 205

Discomforting Silences in Alt-Right America, 2019
Simon Strick 227

Contributors 249