

Contents

---

|                        |   |
|------------------------|---|
| Acknowledgements ..... | 7 |
|------------------------|---|

Beginnings

|                                                                    |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| 1. Prologue: From Local to Global, From Courtesy to Civility ..... | 11 |
| 2. The Inception of Global Civility                                |    |
| Henry Blount's A Voyage into the Levant (1636) .....        | 21 |

Enlightened Cosmopolitanism and the Practice of Global Civility

|                                                                                |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| 3. Global Civility and Shipwreck                                               |    |
| George Keate's Account of the Pelew Islands (1788) .....                | 61 |
| 4. Global Civility on the Desert Route to India                                |    |
| Henry Abbott's A Trip ...Across the Grand Desart of Arabia (1789) ..... | 97 |

Discursive Changes within Global Civility

|                                                                                                                                                        |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 5. Two Views of Botany Bay:                                                                                                                            |     |
| George Barrington's An Impartial and Circumstantial Narrative (c. 1793-4) andMary Ann Parker's A Voyage Round the World (1795) ..... | 137 |
| 6. The Attraction of Repulsion:                                                                                                                        |     |
| Charles Colville Frankland's Travels to and from Constantinople (1829) .....                                                                    | 171 |

Transitions and Conclusions

- 7. From Representational Ambivalence to Colonialism
F.E. Maning's (fictional) Autobiography Old New Zealand (1863) ..... 219
- 8. Epilogue: From Global Civility to Comparative Imperialisms? ..... 257
- Works Cited ..... 259