

Contents

Acknowledgments 7

1. Introduction: Materialist Minds 9

 Minding Matter 9

 A New Naturalism? 11

 Marco Roth’s “The Rise of the Neuronovel” 14

 A Critique of Roth’s Critique 16

 Materialist Minds in Literature: Other Accounts 20

 Research Assumptions and Questions 22

 Thesis 26

 Structure and Method 27

2. Key Terms and Concepts 29

 Minds, Selves, and Subjects 29

 The Unconscious 34

 Habit and Plasticity 36

 New Materialism 37

 Agency, Autonomy, and Automaticity 39

 Matter/Materiality 41

 Neo-Naturalism 48

3. “My wayward brain”: Cerebral Subjectivity and Narrative Identity in the Neuro-Memoir 51

 What (or When) is the Neuro-Memoir? 51

 The Cerebral Subject 57

 The Cerebral Subject and the Neurochemical Self 59

 The Cerebral Subject and the Sufficiently Separate Self 60

 The Narrative or Autobiographical Self 62

 The Narrative Self in Paul Ricoeur 65

 The Narrative Self in Materialist Theories of Consciousness 67

 Materialist Theories of Consciousness in Theories of the Narrative Self 70

 A Hypothesis 74

Kay Redfield Jamison and Elyn R. Saks: Revising Subjectivity	76
Jamison and Saks: Control	79
Siri Hustvedt and Allen Shawn: Integrating Mind and Matter	87
Marc Lewis and Michael W. Clune: Addiction and Agency	97
Marc Lewis: Learning, Inside and Out	98
Michael W. Clune: The Futility of Attempting to Forget the Self	105
Chapter Conclusion: Integration and Control	114
 4. "Just some kind of nerve impulse in the brain":
Substances and Subjects in the Novels of Don DeLillo	119
Characters and Subjects	119
End Zone	125
Great Jones Street	131
Ratner's Star	137
White Noise	151
Chapter Conclusion: "The old human muddles and quirks"	157
 5. Between Agency and Automatism:
David Foster Wallace's Infinite Jest	163
An Informing Fear	163
Wallace Scholarship and the Therapeutic Paradigm	169
"A machine in the ghost": Hal Incandenza	174
"Now they've got you, and you're free": Don Gately	189
Chapter Conclusion: "Configured for a recursive loop"	200
 6. Neural Narrative: Richard Powers's Galatea 2.2 and The Echo Maker ..
Contemporary Contexts of Consciousness	205
"An owner's manual for the brain": Galatea 2.2	213
"The brain is the ultimate storytelling machine": The Echo Maker	232
Chapter Conclusion: The Apotheosis of Narrative	255
 Conclusion
Summary and Findings	265
Motifs and Tropes	267
Renewal and Revision I: Conceptions of Subjectivity	270
Renewal and Revision II:
The Representation of Consciousness and Character	275
Renewal and Revision III: Formal Design and Metaphoricity	281
Renewal and Revision IV: The Relevance and Social Function of Literature	282
 Works Cited
	287