

List of Figures

Figures

Fig. 1: Chain and phylogram	26
Fig. 2: Cladogram of the great apes	28
Fig. 3: Cladograms of Titian's oeuvre	33
Fig. 4: Multiplicity of antichains	87
Fig. 5: Clustering	113
Fig. 6: Individuality and proximity in common style	136
Fig. 7: Dominance orders in the common style	139
Fig. 8: Nucleus and periphery of two common styles S_1 and S_2	143
Fig. 9: The cultural trade-off	169
Fig. 10: Polytomisation	188
Fig. 11: Postmodernist groupings	224
Fig. 12: Syndromic encounters	233
Fig. 13: Coolness	240
Fig. 14: Semiotic transformation of o/+consumption signals	276
Fig. 15: Creativity signalling	283
Fig. 16: Know-why signalling	284
Fig. 17: Early-bird signalling	285
Fig. 18: Actively uncool signalling	286
Fig. 19: Unconditional signalling	287
Fig. 20: Power signalling	289
Fig. 21: Austerity signalling	290
Fig. 22: The stylistic signalling cascade and industrial transfer	292
Fig. 23: Brand groupings	294

Tables

Table 1:	Overview	63
Table 2:	'Molecular' order of dissimilarity	69
Table 3:	Wölfflin's 'molecular' order	72
Table 4:	Different perspectives or different ontologies of the world of objects?	88
Table 5:	The situation-classified and meta-contrasted world of objects of individualistic society	91
Table 6:	Situation-specific styles	95
Table 7:	Relativity of rank distance between two objects	111
Table 8:	Individual agency	117
Table 9:	Styles of the extreme and above-average type	128
Table 10:	Average individual contribution ($\emptyset$) of the egoist to the determinants of their happiness	157
Table 11:	Agency and individual restrictions for the representative style leader	165
Table 12:	Distance and individuality syndrome (type)	221
Table 13:	Postmodern business models	265
Table 14:	Signalling typology	291