

LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS

HETA AALI is a doctoral candidate in Cultural History at the University of Turku, Finland. Her research interests are cultural history of France, nineteenth-century French historiography, gender history and history of French queenship.

Contact: heta.aali@utu.fi

KRISTINA MÜLLER-BONGARD is a research assistant in the Research Unit Historical Cultural Sciences at the University of Mainz, Germany. Her research interests are art, art literature and theory in the early modern period, the history of art collections, and the political-religious staging of violence as well as its socio-cultural perception.

Contact: muellkr@uni-mainz.de

ASKO NIVALA is a doctoral candidate in Cultural History, University of Turku. His research focuses on German early Romanticism and especially on Friedrich Schlegel. His other interests include Heinrich von Kleist and the recent theoretical discussion on posthumanism and political theology.

Contact: aeniva@utu.fi

ANNA-LEENA PERÄMÄKI is a doctoral candidate in Cultural History, University of Turku. Her research interests include cultural history of writing, autobiographical sources, women and children in the Holocaust and daily life in World War II.

Contact: alpera@utu.fi

JÖRG ROGGE is Professor of History, Middle Ages, at the University of Mainz. He is also Spokesperson of the Special Research Group Historical Cultural Sciences, Mainz. His main research interests are methods and theory of historical cultural sciences and politics and culture in Late Medieval Europe.
Contact: rogge@uni-mainz.de

JUHANA SAARELAINEN is a doctoral candidate in Cultural History, University of Turku. His research interests include cultural history of knowledge and art, early nineteenth century and theory of history.
Contact: jksaar@utu.fi

HANNU SALMI is Professor of Cultural History, University of Turku. He is a historian of the nineteenth century, especially music history, and has written on the history of media and popular culture. He is currently leading a research project Travelling Notions of Culture: Itineraries of Bildung and Civilisation in Early Nineteenth-Century Europe (Academy of Finland, 2012-2015). He is also a member of The Romantic Era Research Group (RERG) and a founding member of the International Society for Cultural History.
Contact: hannu.salmi@utu.fi

CATHLEEN SARTI is a doctoral candidate in Early Modern European History at the University of Mainz. Her research focuses on political culture in Northern Europe, including the British Isles.
Contact: cathleen.sarti@gmail.com

ALEXANDRA SCHÄFER is a doctoral candidate in Early Modern History at the University of Mainz. Her current research focuses on media and communication history as well as religious conflicts in early modern Europe, especially France and the Holy Roman Empire.
Contact: alexandra_schaefer@yahoo.de

MATTHIAS SCHNETTGER is Professor of Early Modern History at the University of Mainz. His research interests cover the Holy Roman Empire, especially the so-called "Reichs-Italien", the situation of the small principalities and republics in Germany and Italy as well as transfer processes in early modern Europe.
Contact: schnettger@uni-mainz.de