

Contributors

Davor Beganović is lecturer in the Slavic Department of Tübingen University and adjunct lecturer in the Slavic Department of Zurich University and the Slavic Department of Constance University. Research interests: theory of literature, especially narratology, studies in cultural memory; contemporary South-Slavic literatures. He is the author of Pamćenje traume. Apokaliptička proza Danila Kiša (Sarajevo, Zagreb 2007); Poetika melankolije. Na tragovima suvremene bosansko-hercegovačke književnosti (Sarajevo 2009); Protiv kanona. Mlada crnogorska proza i okamenjeni spavač (Ulcinj 2010). He has co-edited Krieg sichten. Zur medialen Darstellung der Kriege in Jugoslawien (München 2007), Unutar-nji prijevod. Antologija (Zagreb, Podgorica 2011) and Cultures of Memory in South-Eastern Europe. Spotlights and perspectives (Bielefeld 2020).

Eva Binder is a senior researcher at the Department of Slavonic Studies, Innsbruck University. Her research interests include contemporary Russian and twentieth-century Soviet culture, film and media. Recent publications: Opfernarrative in transnationalen Kontexten (ed. with C. Diem, M. Finkelstein et al., De Gruyter, forthcoming 2020); Lyrik transkulturell (ed., with B. Mertz-Baumgartner and S. Klettenhammer, Königshausen & Neumann, 2016).

Konstantin Bogdanov is a senior researcher at the Institute of Russian Literature (The Pushkin House) of the Russian Academy of Sciences and a professor at National Research University Higher School of Economics in Saint Petersburg. Among his main research interests are Russian literature and folklore, historical and theoretical aspects of Russian literature and culture of the seventeenth to twentieth centuries, the history of ideas, the history of Russian and European rhetoric. His publications include Everyday Life and Mythology: Studies on Semiotics of Folklore Reality (in Russian, 2001, 2014), Physicians, Patients, Readers: Pathographical Texts of Russian Culture of the Eighteenth to Nineteenth Centuries (in Russian 2005, 2017), Vox Populi. The Folklore Genres of Soviet Culture (in Russian, 2009) and Variable. The Weather of Russian History and Other Stories (in Russian, 2014).

Eliot Borenstein is professor of Russian & Slavic Studies at New York University. His most recent book is Plots against Russia: Conspiracy and Fantasy after Socialism. His next book, Pussy Riot: Speaking Punk to Power will be published in late 2020.

Dagmar Burkhart (retired 2002) was professor of Slavic Literatures, Balkanistics and European Cultural Anthropology at the Universities of Hamburg and Mannheim. Her fields of research include comparative cultural theory, intertextuality and intermediality. She is the author of “Osip Mandelshtam and the Grand Lie of Stalinism” (2012), “Skin and the Senses in Imre Kertesz’ Novel Fateless” (2013), “Komparatistik und Cultural Animal Studies” (2018).

Peter Deutschmann is professor of Slavic Literature and Culture Studies at Salzburg University. He is the author of Intersubjektivität und Narration: Gogol’, Erofeev, Sorokin, Mamleev (2003); Allegorien des Politischen: Zeitgeschichtliche Implikationen des tschechischen historischen Dramas, 1810–1935 (2017). His research interests include Russian and Czech literatures and cultures in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, narratology, drama and political history.

Jens Herlth is professor of Slavic literatures at the University of Fribourg (Switzerland). His research interests include Polish intellectual history, Russian and Polish literature in the context of the history of ideas, and the relationship between literature and the social sciences. Recent publication: Stanisław Brzozowski and the Migration of Ideas: Transnational Perspectives on the Intellectual Field in Twentieth-Century Poland and Beyond (ed., with E. Świdorski, Bielefeld 2019).

Gernot Howanitz holds a post-doc position at the University of Innsbruck. He is author of the monograph Leben weben. (Auto-)Biographische Praktiken russischer Autorinnen und Autoren im Internet (Transcript, 2020) and editor of the Open Access journal Digital Icons: Studies in Russian, Eurasian and Central European New Media. His research interests include Russian, Polish and Czech literature from 1850 onward, reception theory, new media, and digital humanities.

Magdalena Kaltseis is pre-doc-assistant at the University of Klagenfurt. In her doctoral thesis she examines propaganda strategies in Russian TV talk shows during the Ukraine crisis 2014. Her research interests include mass media in contemporary Russia, Russian culture and politics of the twentieth/twenty-first century, East-West relations, discourse linguistics and visual communication.

Goran Lazičić is currently a DOC-Fellow of the Austrian Academy of Sciences in the Department of Slavic Studies at the University of Graz, where he is completing his PhD-thesis (working title Satire and Political Allegory by Dubravka Ugrešić, David Albahari and Svetislav Basara). He has completed his undergraduate studies at the Department of Serbian Literature at the University of Belgrade and his master studies at the Department of Comparative Literature at the University of Vienna. He is the editor of Restart: Panorama of New Poetry in Serbia (in Serbian, Belgrade 2014).

Bob Muilwijk is a PhD candidate in Slavic Literature and Culture Studies at the University of Salzburg. He has published articles on Zbigniew Herbert and Witold Gombrowicz, translations of Herbert and Michał Szymburski from Polish to Dutch and is currently working on a PhD thesis on Herbert and Czesław Miłosz. His research interests include the interplay of twentieth century and contemporary Polish literature with politics as well as Polish and European romanticism.

Alexander Panchenko is Director of the Research Center for Literary Theory and Interdisciplinary Studies at the Institute of Russian Literature (The Pushkin House) of the Russian Academy of Sciences and Director of the Center for Anthropology of Religion at the European University in Saint Petersburg. His research interests include vernacular Christianity, New Age religion, conspiracy theories, contemporary folklore and popular culture, and anthropological approaches to the study of Russian literature. He has published more than 100 research works (including three books) in Russian and other European languages. His recent publications include “The Beast Computer in Brussels: Religion, Conspiracy Theories, and Contemporary Legends in Post-Soviet Culture” in Folklore 69 (Tartu, 2017).

František A. Podhajský is a post-doc at the Institute of Czech Literature of the Czech Academy of Sciences, as well as a founding member of the Brno Narratological Circle. His research interests include Czech intellectual history and culture, Central European modernisms, and digital humanities. He edited the collective monographs Julek Fučík—věčně živý! (Julius Fučík Forever, 2012), and Fikce Jaroslava Haška (Jaroslav Hašek's Fictions, 2016).

Anna Razuvalova is Senior Research Fellow in the Literature Theory and Interdisciplinary Research Group at the Institute of Russian Literature (The Pushkin House) of the Russian Academy of Sciences in Saint Petersburg. She is the author of Pisateli-“derevenshchiki”: literatura i konservativnaia ideologiya 1970-kh (Village Prose Writers: Literature and Conservative Ideology of the 1970s, 2015) as well as of several journal articles and chapters to a number of books (e.g., Sibirskii tekst v natsional'nom siuzhetnom prostranstve, Krasnoyarsk 2010; Sibirskaya identichnost' v zerkale literaturnogo teksta, Moscow 2015). Her research interests include conservatism and nationalism in late and post-Soviet Russian literature, regionalist ideas in contemporary Russian literature.

Evgeniya Safargaleeva is PhD student at the University of Giessen. She has been working on her dissertation Textpraktiken des russischen „neuen Dramas“ im europäischen Kontext since February 2017. Her research interests include modern Russian literature, especially drama and poetry. Recent publications: “Theater als ‘Pulp Fiction’: Textpraktiken bei Jurij Klavdiev,” in: Zwischenzeiten, Zwischenräume, Zwischenspiele (Hamburg, Berlin 2019); “Kategoriia narušennoi kommunikacii v p'esakh V. Durnenkova,” in: Revitalizace hodnot (Brno 2019); “Zhanrovoe svoeobrazie p'esy Ju. Klavdieva ‘Pobedonosec’,” in: Acta universitatis Lodziensis. Folia Litteraria Rossica 12, 2019.

Alois Streicher is a teacher of Latin and English in Salzburg. He studied English and Classics at Salzburg University and is currently doing his BA in Slavonic studies. He wrote a diploma thesis on The Reception of Czesław Miłosz in the United States. His interests include Polish literature—especially poetry—, reception theory and foreign language instruction.

Sergei Shtyrkov is assistant professor at the Department of Anthropology of the European University at St. Petersburg. He is the author of Historical Legends on Foreign Invasion: The Peasant Narrative and Mythology of Landscape, 2012 (in Russian). His research interests include anthropology of religion, nationalism studies and folk narrative studies.

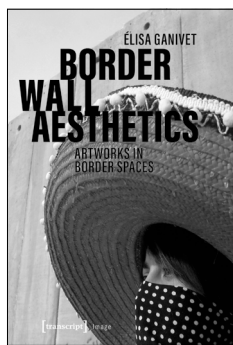

Alois Woldan is professor of Slavic Literatures at Vienna University. He is author of Beiträge zu einer Galizienliteratur (2015, Polish version: Studia Galicyjskie, 2019) and Der Österreich-Mythos in der polnischen Literatur (1996; Polish version: Mit galicyjski w literaturze polskiej, 2002). His research interests include Polish and Ukrainian literatures and inner-Slavic comparative studies, first of all in the field of Austrian Galicia.

Valery Vyugin is a senior researcher at the Institute of Russian Literature (The Pushkin House) of the Russian Academy of Sciences and associate professor of Saint Petersburg State University. He is the author of Politika poëtiki: ocherki iz istorii sovetskoi literatury [The Politics of Poetics: Essays on the History of Soviet Literature] (St. Petersburg 2014), Andrei Platonov: poëtika zagadki. Ocherk stanovleniia i èvoliutsii stilia [The Poetics of Enigma: An Essay on the Development of Andrei Platonov's Style] (St. Petersburg 2004), the editor of the volume Vtoroi Vsesoiuznyi s'ezd sovetskikh pisatelei (1954): Ideologiia istoricheskogo perekhoda i transformatsiia sovetskoi literatury [The Second Congress of Soviet Writers (1954): The Ideology of a Historical Transition and the Transformation of Soviet Literature]. Saint Petersburg 2018). His research interests include Russian literature, cinema, and theatre of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries.

Christian Zehnder is a postdoctoral researcher in Slavic literatures at the University of Fribourg (Switzerland). His research interests include Russian and Polish literature in the context of the history of ideas and religion and unofficial cultures in Russia and Poland. Recent publication: Izobilie i askeza v russkoi literature: stolknoveniia, perekhody, sovpadeniia (ed., with Jens Herlth, Novoe literaturnoe obozrenie, 2020). In 2019, he published the novel Die verschobene Stadt (Otto Müller Verlag).

Cultural Studies

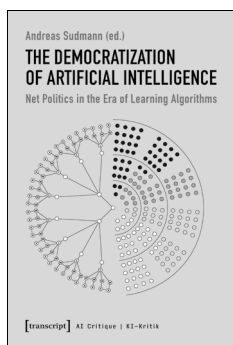

Elisa Ganivet

Border Wall Aesthetics Artworks in Border Spaces

2019, 250 p., hardcover, ill.

79,99 € (DE), 978-3-8376-4777-8

E-Book: 79,99 € (DE), ISBN 978-3-8394-4777-2

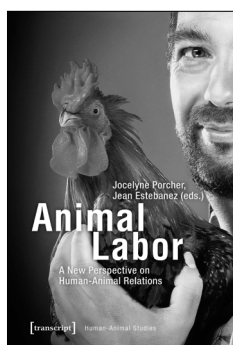

Andreas Sudmann (ed.)

The Democratization of Artificial Intelligence Net Politics in the Era of Learning Algorithms

2019, 334 p., pb., col. ill.

49,99 € (DE), 978-3-8376-4719-8

E-Book: free available, ISBN 978-3-8394-4719-2

Jocelyne Porcher, Jean Estebanez (eds.)

Animal Labor A New Perspective on Human-Animal Relations

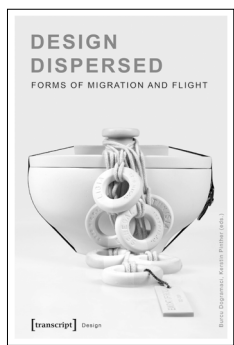

2019, 182 p., hardcover

99,99 € (DE), 978-3-8376-4364-0

E-Book: 99,99 € (DE), ISBN 978-3-8394-4364-4

All print, e-book and open access versions of the titles in our list are available in our online shop www.transcript-verlag.de/en!

Cultural Studies

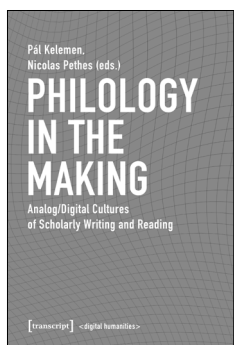

Burcu Dogramaci, Kerstin Pinther (eds.)

Design Dispersed Forms of Migration and Flight

2019, 274 p., pb., col. ill.

34,99 € (DE), 978-3-8376-4705-1

E-Book: 34,99 € (DE), ISBN 978-3-8394-4705-5

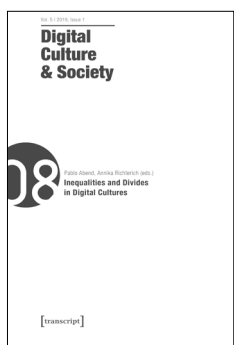

Pál Kelemen, Nicolas Pethes (eds.)

Philology in the Making Analog/Digital Cultures of Scholarly Writing and Reading

2019, 316 p., pb., ill.

34,99 € (DE), 978-3-8376-4770-9

E-Book: 34,99 € (DE), ISBN 978-3-8394-4770-3

Pablo Abend, Annika Richterich,
Mathias Fuchs, Ramón Reichert, Karin Wenz (eds.)

Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Vol. 5, Issue 1/2019 – Inequalities and Divides in Digital Cultures

2019, 212 p., pb., ill.

29,99 € (DE), 978-3-8376-4478-4

E-Book: 29,99 € (DE), ISBN 978-3-8394-4478-8

All print, e-book and open access versions of the titles in our list are available in our online shop www.transcript-verlag.de/en!

