

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are many people to whom I am grateful for their engagement of one kind or another in the development of this book. I would like to thank the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) and the Economic and Social Research Council in the UK (ESRC) for generous financial support of the present work. I would further like to offer my thanks to Françoise Vergès and Rainer Winter for their interest and support throughout the research process. I would like to offer my thanks to those friends and acquaintances in Guatemala who have shared their time with me and thereby made this work possible: *Don*¹ Arsenio, *Doña*² Toria, Doña Maria, Oswaldo, Doña Luisa, Fredy, Francisca, the teachers at the Spanish school ‘Educación para Todos’ and Nikola. I would like to thank Howard Caygill for invaluable inspirations from his seminars on vitalism in philosophy. I also wish to thank Nick Thoburn, Olivia Harris, John Hutnyk, Rosi Braidotti, Bhaskar Mukhopadhyay and Vic Seidler for comments and suggestions. I would like to thank those flatmates and study colleagues who have helped proof-reading. I would like to thank especially the following four people the encounters with whom have given direction to the research process in the most fundamental ways: Scott Lash, Oscar Gómez, Bärbel Mahler and Maria Lakka. The solidarity that I have received from my mother throughout the development of this work is still hard to acknowledge appropriately. I would like to dedicate this book to my nephew and niece, Moritz and Esther Mahler.
