

Contents

Acronyms and Abbreviations..... 11

Chapter I 15

Introduction: A Plant Exchange
in Thulamahashe..... 15

Situating the Field: Research Questions and Contextualization..... 17

 Situating the Research Field..... 19

The Crucial Moment: The Disclosure
of Knowledge..... 21

 The Promises of Bioprospecting:
 Hope or Just An(other) Illusion? 28

Outline of Chapters 31

Chapter II..... 35

Introduction 35

The Framework: Multiple Sites and Temporalities..... 36

 Sites, Movements and Impressions: First Research Phase 36

 More Congruency: Second Research Phase 43

 Staying ‘There’ With Its Assets and Drawbacks 45

Bioprospecting Assemblages:
Method (as) Theory 48

 Multi-Sited Ethnography: Capturing Spatial Multitude 48

 Actor-Network Theory: A Theory Is not Always a Theory 50

Property and Its Value: A Tricky Match 53

 The Exchange of Values 56

Research Challenges and Resolutions 57

 Scattered Muthi: Sutherlandia Frutescens 59

Conclusion and Outlook 63

Chapter III	65
Introduction	65
Bioprospecting Contact Zones:
From Past to Present.....	68
South African Colonial and Apartheid
Bioprospecting Encounters	69
Knowledge Encounters and the Question of 'the Indigenous'	75
Unresolved Politics: Knowledge
and Natural Resources Protection	79
New Contact Zones: South African Biodiversity and Indigenous Politics	84
Policies Endorsing Indigenous Heritage	86
Economic Incentives: In Muthi We Hope	89
Ethnography in Bioprospecting Contact Zones.....	93
Emotions in the Field. Are They Re-Narratable?	95
Focus Group Discussion at the IKS Lead Program:
Politics or Personal Liability?.....	98
"Experiencing the Ancestors": Immersion in the Field	100
Being Jeopardized in Mzansi, Eastern Cape	101
There Is Another Side of the Coin: Getting Healed in Mboyti	105
On Being 'Called' and Taking on a Triple Role in the Field	107
Conclusion and Outlook	109
 Chapter IV	 111
Introduction	111
Topographies of Muthi and Knowledge	113
From Being (Just) a Plant in Nature to Being a Plant in Use.....	113
The Origin of Knowledge:
"It All Comes from the Ancestors"	115
Dreaming Plants: Ancestors and the Production
of Knowledge	118
The Healer as an 'African Intellectual'	123
Knowledge Transference:
Knowledge, Plants and Ancestors	125
The Coming of Sangomahood:
Ukuthwasa and Knowledge Transference	125
Ritualizing Muthi: Finding the Imphilelo
and Finalizing Ukuthwasa	130
Healer, Plant and Ancestors: An Inseparable Unit.....	133
Protecting the Value of Knowledge and Muthi	135
Customary Laws: Protecting Knowledge, the Environment and Moral Order	140

Property in Relation: Property, Environment and Community	145
Rodney Sibuyi.....	146
Charles Mthethwa.....	151
Conclusion and Outlook	155

Chapter V..... 157

Introduction: "We Go beyond What They Know"	157
The Indigenous Knowledge Health System Lead Program	159
An Ethnographer at the Laboratory.....	160
From Indigenous Knowledge Systems to the IKS Laboratory:
A Challenging Translation	165
First Challenge: How Muthi Does(n't) Enter the Laboratory	169
Hope in 'Rohelia': A Plant Claim for HIV/AIDS	170
Hope in Helping People: A Plant Claim for Diabetes	172
Hope and Reality in Claim Making	173
Second Challenge: "Why Does Science not Believe in Our Knowledge"?.....	175
Third Challenge: "We Go beyond Their Knowledge"	178
Partial Connection and Mutual Dependency:
One System Needs the Other	186
"Deep Science": The Biochemical Transformation of Muthi	188
The Quest for Validity and Safety: PHELA, a "Crude" Plant Mixture.....	190
The Quest for the Peak: Detecting Chemical Compounds.....	192
HPLC and LC-MS: Identification of Unknowns	195
Transformation of Indigenous Knowledge into Scientific Knowledge	199
Additional Mandates:
Educate, Use and Develop	200
Educating the Neighborhood: National Science Week at the Laboratory	201
"Sowing the Seeds of Hope": Sutherlandia Plantation Site Project	203
Conclusion and Outlook	207

Chapter VI.....209

ABC in South Africa: The "Best Case"
Hoodia Gordonii.....	209
Introduction.....	211

ABS: A Stony Path Towards Sharing	212
From Gift to Commodity Exchange	213
What and Where Is 'the Community'?	215
Science in Distress:
Navigating Spurious Inventions	219
Sharing and Protecting 'Property'
at the Medical Research Council	220
Databases: A Possible Solution?	223
ABS – Three Letters for Development?	227
An ABS Training Course in Cape Town	228
People and Plants in Action	231
'It's an Awful Lot of Work':
Trading Under the ABS Legislation	232
'It's Just an Excuse': ABS and the Expansion of Biopiracy	236
'There Is no Future for Phyto-Medicine': The Future
of Medicinal Plant Trading	237
Hoodia Gordonii and the Future
of Medicinal Plant-Based Trading	240
Conclusion and Outlook	242

Chapter VII 245

Introduction	245
Interim Celebration in Share	247
A Willful Cow and the Dialogic Path to Empowerment	249
The Biocultural Community Protocol:
Vision and Reality	253
'It is About the Process': BCP Promotion	255
The Kukula Healers Coming into Being	258
The Biocultural Community Protocol	262
'Our Knowledge Is Threatened':
Traditional Healers in a Changing Society	265
Reorganizing Knowledge Protection:
The TK Commons Pool	273
'We Want to Share Our Knowledge':
The TK Commons Pool	274
Legal Implications: When Intellectual Property
Meets the TK Commons Pool	279
A Sui Generis (Partial) Solution: A Legal Trust	281
A Traditional Knowledge Commons Workshop (March 2012)	284
The Pursuit of Integration by Law	285

The Kukula Healers Constitution and Code of Conduct/Ethics	287
Future Scenarios: Self-Sustaining Entrepreneurs?	289
Capacity Building for an Independent Future	290
Conclusion	293
Chapter VIII	295
Introduction	295
Historical Contestation.....	296
Ambivalent Relations: Secrecy Versus Disclosure in the Global Knowledge Economy.....	297
Bioprospecting Trapped: Torn Between the Commons and the Anti-Commons.....	300
From Indigenous Knowledge to Scientific Knowledge to Economic and Scientific Value	301
Bioprospecting: A Paradigm Beyond Mere Scientific and Economic Value	304
The Opportunities and Challenges of Law.....	305
Bioprospecting as a Means of Hope	308
Future Perspectives	309
Bibliography	311
Additional Websites	348

