

About the authors

Julejda Aliaj (Gërxi) Dr is Associate Professor in the Department of Law, Faculty of Political-Legal Sciences, of the University 'Aleksandër Moisiu', Durrës, Albania where she is a full-time lecturer and the author of many scientific papers and of several study materials for students of the Department of Law. Her research interests are related to civil law, her field of study, and include legal system issues in civil matters. e-mail: julejda@gmail.com.

Enkelejda Haxhiraj Dr has been Assistant Lecturer in the Faculty of Humanities, Department of Law, at the University of Vlorë, Albania, since 2018 focusing on business law and commercial legislation. In 2023, she completed her doctorate studies in the Faculty of Legal Sciences at the International University of Struga. She is also affiliated with the Faculty of Human Sciences of the University 'Ismael Qemali', Vlorë. e-mail: enkelejda.haxhiraj@gmail.com.

Dijana Jovanoska is a doctoral student at University 'St. Kliment Ohridski', Bitola, North Macedonia. Her doctoral thesis is entitled 'Promoting the implementation of high performance business intelligence models'. She is a talented young researcher with strong analytical skills and competences in the domain of e-business. e-mail: dijana_67bmis@yahoo.com.

Branimir Jovanovic is an economist at the Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies (wiiw) covering the western Balkans and serving as a country expert for North Macedonia and Serbia. He works on a broad range of topics including economic growth and development, inequality and poverty, fiscal policy and taxation, social policy and labour rights, EU integration and foreign direct investment. e-mail: jovanovic@wiiw.ac.at.

Rajko Kosanović PhD heads the Department for Legal, Economic and Social Affairs at the Confederation of Autonomous Trade Union of Serbia. He holds a doctorate in legal-economic sciences. He has published several books and over 450 articles. A former chair of the Board of Directors of the Republican Health Insurance Fund, he has also been a member of numerous expert teams and committees that have prepared acts of law and bylaws related to labour law, health care, health insurance, unemployment insurance and pension insurance.

Cvetan Kovač has two bachelor degrees in traffic engineering and safety engineering. He is the co-ordinator of the Occupational Health & Safety Committee of the Independent Trade Unions of Croatia (SSSH), engaged in promoting the role and importance of workers' representatives, OHS representatives, works councils and trade unions within various business systems in Croatia. He is the author and co-author of a significant number of scientific and professional papers, while the Ministry of Labour and Pension System awarded him its Occupational Health and Safety Prize in 2015. e-mail: cvetan.kovac@gmail.com

Nataša Kovačević joined Bankwatch in 2021 where she is currently a heating sector decarbonisation campaigner for the western Balkans, specifically Montenegro, and has gained recognition for her environmental activism. She holds a university degree in law and has been finalising her masters in environmental protection, and has been professionally engaged in the NGO sector for the last 18 years. e-mail: natasa.kovacevic@bankwatch.org

Ivana Krišto PhD is Lecturer in the Faculty of Metallurgy, University of Zagreb. She is an active participant in scientific and professional events, as well as author and co-author of many scientific and professional papers in occupational health and safety. Her educational qualifications are in engineering, and she is also Vice-President of the European Society of Safety Engineers. The Ministry of Labour and Pension System awarded her its Occupational Health and Safety Prize in 2017.

Sanja Paunović PhD is Economic Counsellor to the Confederation of Autonomous Trade Unions of Serbia. She holds a PhD in economics from Singidunum University, where she defended a thesis focused on the role of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) during the economic crisis. Dr. Paunović is the author of several books and has published over one hundred articles in the fields of economics, labour policy and social protection. She is an active member of the standing Social Protection Committee of the European Trade Union Confederation (ETUC), as well as a member of its Quality Employment and Labour Market Committee. e-mail: psanja@rocket-mail.com.

Spomenka Paunović PhD earned her doctorate in Economics at the University of Belgrade, after which she worked for ten years on labour and wage policy in the Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs. She currently teaches economics-related courses at the Secondary School of Law and Business, and has authored numerous articles and book reviews. She also actively promotes trade union awareness among young people by organising educational visits for her students to the Confederation of Autonomous Trade Unions of Serbia, introducing them to the role and importance of trade unions in Serbia and internationally.

Marija Midovska Petkoska PhD is Assistant at the University 'St. Kliment Ohridski', Bitola, North Macedonia. Her doctoral thesis was entitled 'Modelling a system of the measurement, simulation and forecasting of organisational performance in the Macedonian food industry'. Besides her research activities, she is an experienced project coordinator with a demonstrated history of working in higher education. e-mail: marija.midovska@uklo.edu.mk.

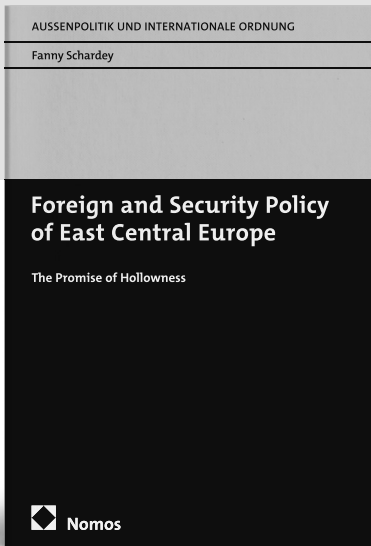

Dimitar Nikoloski PhD is Full Professor in labour economics and econometrics at University 'St. Kliment Ohridski', Bitola, North Macedonia. His main research interest include labour markets in post-transition economies, the digital and green transitions and skill imbalances. His most recent work is 'The gig economy in the post-Covid era', a chapter in R. P. Nechkoska, G. Manceschi and G. Poels (eds) (2023) Facilitation in Complexity, From Creation to Co-creation, from Dreaming to Co-dreaming, from Evolution to Co-evolution Springer. e-mail: dimitar.nikoloski@uklo.edu.mk.

Qerim Qerimi is Full Professor at the University of Prishtina and a former rector of the same university. He is a present member of the Council of Europe's European Commission for Democracy through Law (Venice Commission), and chair of its scientific council. He sits on the editorial board of numerous international journals, has been a visiting professor and researcher at various European research centres and institutions, and serves as Rapporteur for Oxford International Organizations (OXIO). e-mail: qerim.qerimi@uni-pr.edu

Bruno S. Sergi is an Instructor at Harvard University. He is also a faculty affiliate at the Harvard Center for International Development and the Davis Center for Russian and Eurasian Studies, and an associate at the Harvard University Asia Center. He is Full Professor at the University of Messina and Academic Series Editor of Cambridge Elements in the Economics of Emerging Markets (Cambridge University Press). Bruno is a member of the editorial board of the SEER Journal for Labour and Social Affairs in Eastern Europe. e-mail: bsergi@unime.it

Fabian M. Teichmann Dr. is an attorney-at-law and notary in Switzerland and managing partner of Teichmann International (Schweiz) AG. Holding doctorates in both law and economics, he researches and publishes widely on white-collar crime, money laundering, compliance and the regulation of cybersecurity and artificial intelligence. e-mail: info@teichmann-law.ch

How Party Politics Shapes Preferences for EU Integration

Foreign and Security Policy of East Central Europe

The Promise of Hollowness

By Dr. Fanny Schardey

2025, 362 pp., pb., € 94.00

ISBN 978-3-7560-3173-3

E-Book 978-3-7489-6057-7

(Außenpolitik und Internationale Ordnung)

The study examines diverging preferences of Eastern European EU member states towards a more closely integrated CFSP/ CSDP despite similar threats from Russia and declining trust in the U.S. within NATO. The author demonstrates that party-political competition over societal value conflicts (GAL/TAN) is decisive in explaining foreign policy preferences. Through a comparative analysis, the study explains how the consequences of globalisation and Europeanisation have led to the formation of specific representation mechanisms that continue to shape the states' integration preferences to this day.

Available digitally at Inlibra.com

Available in bookstores or via nomos-shop.de | Customer Service +49 7221 2104-222 | service@nomos.de

Returns are at the risk and expense of the addressee

Nomos