

About the authors

Badr Aziz completed his BA in Economics with a minor in International Studies from California State University in May 2014. His interests are macroeconomics and international economics, especially on the effects of the financial meltdown in 2007/08, and is a keen observer of how international relations affect the economy as a whole.

Anis H. Bajrektarevic Professor is attached to IMC University of Austria where he is Chair of International Law and Global Political Studies and where he teaches courses in geo-political affairs, international law and sustainable development. An adviser to international institutions, he is also Editor of Geopolitics, History and International Relations. e-mail: anis@bajrektarovic.eu.

Dragan Đurić PhD is a Core Technical Adviser in the UN Development Programme Department for Capacity Development and Associate Professor in Faculty of Political Science of the University of Montenegro, Podgorica, where his interests lie in European studies, the European Social Model, European cohesion and Pre-Accession Policy.

Sejdefa Dzafche PhD is Assistant Professor in the Faculty of Law of Megafon University, Skopje, Macedonia. e-mail: sejdefa.dzafche@fon.edu.mk.

Nina Lazaridi is an MLA candidate in international relations at Harvard University Extension School. Her research interests are on the post-Soviet region's international relations and political economy. e-mail: lazaridi@fas.harvard.edu.

Eva Maurina is a graduate of the International Business School of the Vienna University of Economic and Business. Her research interests lie in demographics and start-up financing. e-mail: eva.maurina@inbox.lv.

Wolfgang Petritsch is the former UN High Representative in Bosnia; he is currently Schumpeter Fellow at Harvard University.

Bruno S. Sergi currently teaches Economic Policy at the University of Messina and is Centre Associate of the Davis Centre for Russian and Eurasian Studies at Harvard University. He has been coaching two networks of trade-union economic experts since 2009: the SEE TU Economic Experts' Network and the NIS TU Economic Experts' Network, both of which are under the framework of the Pan-European Regional Council of the International Trade Union Confederation.

Christophe Solioz is an author and political commentator.

Fabian M. Teichmann recently graduated from Harvard University. He currently serves as the president of a Swiss consulting firm and as the chief executive of an Austrian trading company. His research focuses primarily on emerging markets, anti-corruption, corporate social responsibility and leadership.

Ali Yaman Doc. Dr. is Associate Professor in the Department of International Relations, Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences, of Dr. Abant Izzet Baysal University, Bolu, Turkey. e-mail: yaman_a1@ibu.edu.tr. <http://uluslararasi.ibu.edu.tr/index.php/tr/akademik-kadro/siyasi-tarih/doc-dr-ali-yaman>