

Contents

Introduction 7

Motivation and Goals of the Thesis 9

Research Objectives 11

Structure of the Thesis 13

Theoretical Perspective One:

Sociodemographic Induced Challenges 17

Demographic Change in the Federal Republic of Germany 17

Soft Location Factors' Change in Significance 24

Events within the City and Municipality Marketing Mix 27

Theoretical Perspective Two: Eventization 31

Eventization and Interior Orientation 31

Eventization of the University Campus 33

Motivational Constructs for Event Attendance 37

Today's digitalized Music Industry within the Experience Economy 42

Theoretical Perspective Three:

(Live) Popular Music (Cultures) 47

Popular Music 47

Popular Music Festivals 50

Event Sponsorship 57

Sponsorship within Corporate Communication 63

Music Festival Sponsorship 67

Theoretical Perspective Four:

Reality Model(s) and Cultural Program(s) 71

Culture as Interdisciplinary Contact Point 73

Social Practices and the Culture of Knowledge	84
Knowledge within the Investigation of Sponsorship Culture	85
Reality Model(s) and Cultural Program(s) as Applicable Theoretical Merger	89
Sponsorship Reality Model and Sponsorship Culture Program	92
Theoretical Perspectives Summary	97
Operationalization and Methodological Approach	101
Study One: Qualitative Exploratory Interviews Organizer and Sponsors	107
Methodology—Semi-Structured Interviews as Instrument for Data Collection	109
Study Results	119
Discussion of Results	142
Study Two: Focus Group Interviews Audience	149
Methodology—Focus Groups as Instrument for Data Collection	149
Study Results	153
Discussion of Results	158
Study Three: Quantitative Surveys Audience	163
Methodology	164
Study Results	183
Discussion of Results	214
Overall Discussion	223
Organizer Reality Model	225
Organizer Practical Culture Program	227
Sponsors Reality Model	228
Sponsors Practical Culture Program	230
Audience Reality Modell	232
Audience Practical Culture Program	233
Additional Chapter: COVID-19	237
References	239