

Contents

1. Introduction	7
1.1 On the topicality of Foucault's philosophical concept	7
1.2 The subject between heteronomy and autonomy in Foucault's works	16
1.3 Research approach and structuring of the book	20
 2. Foucault today
The subject in the context of knowledge, power, ethics and aesthetics	23
2.1 Perspectives and reconceptions. Foucault, Kant, Hegel, Bloch and Mbembe in dialogue	23
2.1.1 Limit and transgression. Michel Foucault's reception of Kant in view of philosophical metaphors	23
2.1.2 Theme and variation. Foucault's historical apriority as criticism of Kant's concept of a priori	38
2.1.3 Freedom, nature and history. On the relationship of nature and history in Kant's and Foucault's works	48
2.1.4 From utopia to heterotopia. Foucault's philosophical concept of history as a response to Kant and Hegel	59
2.1.5 Projecting the future. Hope in Kant's, Bloch's and Foucault's philosophy	68
2.1.6 Projecting the future. Kant, Foucault and Mbembe on critique, violence and progress in history and politics	80
2.2 Between autonomy and heteronomy. Subject, ethics and aesthetics in the work of Michel Foucault	100
2.2.1 Recognise yourself. Anthropological perspectives in Hegel's aesthetics and in Foucault's aesthetics and ethics	100
2.2.2 The empty form of salvation. The ethics of the good life in Michel Foucault	110
2.2.3 Aesthetics of play and techniques of the self. The relationship between ethics and aesthetics in Michel Foucault's work	115

2.2.4	Economy, art and emotion. The emotional economy and its boundaries in the philosophical concept of Michel Foucault	131
2.2.5	Affect. Body. Desire. Emotionality in the philosophical concepts of Foucault and Butler	143
2.3	Subject and power. Foucault's concept of power and resistance in a global context	157
2.3.1	Power and limits of power. Resistance and autonomy in Michel Foucault's work	157
2.3.2	Foucault's concept of power from the perspective of the postcolonial and decolonial theories of Mbembe and Mignolo	174
2.3.3	Thinking the resistance. Critique and resistance in the philosophical concept of Foucault and in the theories of Bhabha and Mignolo.....	192
3.	Conclusion	211
4.	Bibliography	219
Index		237