

Contents

Acknowledgments 9

Abstract 11

Entry and Framework

1 Introduction 15

2 Historical Overview 21

2.1 The Historical Context of Jamaica 23

2.2 The Historical Context of Quebec 24

2.3 The Historical Significance of Jamaican Women in Montreal 26

3 Research Questions and Outline 29

4 Methodology 37

5 Theoretical Concepts 43

5.1 Beyond Transnationalism 45

5.2 Gender, Identity and Migration 50

5.3 Diaspora and Homeland 56

Ethnography

6 The City: Localizing Perspectives 61

6.1 Controversies 61

6.2 Settlement Practices and (In)visibility 63

6.3 Montreal and Jamaica: Overlaps and Juxtapositions 66

7 Womanhood: Female Spaces 69

7.1	The Pop-Up Shop	70
7.2	The Salon	73
7.3	At Home	77
7.4	Montreal or Toronto?	83
8	Laws of Attraction: Bodily Practices	89
8.1	Complexities of Complexion	90
8.2	Dancehall Fashion	96
8.3	Of Wigs and Weight	101
9	Grandma's Tale: Mind-Trips and Memories	107
9.1	Nine Nights of Postmemory	109
9.2	A Taste of Home	114
9.3	Partner Banks and Homeland Ties	117
10	Take Off: Mobile Perspectives	121
10.1	Flying Home	122
10.2	The Festive Season	123
10.3	Coming Here to Stay	124
11	Frictions in Paradise: Facing Facts	127
11.1	House of Horror	128
11.2	Begging and Giving	133
11.3	Pitfall Expectations	135
11.4	Returnee Life: Riches and Regrets	141
12	Roots, Pathways and Trajectories: Processes of Oscillation	147
12.1	The Roots Traveller	151
12.2	The Aspiring Returnee	152
12.3	The Glocal	156
12.4	The Wanderer	158
12.5	The Commuter	160
13	Conclusion	163
	References	171

For Amina & Cairo
You are loved. You are powerful. The future is yours.

