Manuscripts and other submissions: All submissions should be sent to the above-mentioned address. There is no liability for unsolicited manuscripts that are submitted. They can only be returned if return postage is enclosed. Acceptance for publication must be made in text form. With the acceptance for publication, the author transfers the non-exclusive, spatially and temporally unlimited right to reproduce and distribute in physical form, the right of public reproduction and enabling access, the right of inclusion in databases, the right of storage on electronic data carriers and the right of their distribution and reproduction as well as the right of other exploitation in electronic form for the duration of the statutory copyright to Nomos Verlagsgesellschaft mbH & Co.KG. This also includes forms of use that are currently not yet known. This does not affect the author's mandatory right of secondary exploitation as laid down in Section 38 (4) UrhG (German Copyright Act) after 12 months have expired after publication. A possible Creative Commons license attached to the individual contribution, or the respective issue has priority in case of doubt. For copyright, see also the general notes at www.nomos.de/copyright. Unsolicited manuscripts – for which no liability is assumed – are considered a publication proposal on the publisher's terms. Only unpublished original work will be accepted. The authors declare that they agree to editing that does not distort the meaning.

Copyright and publishing rights: All articles published in this journal are protected by copyright. This also applies to the published court decisions and their guiding principles, insofar as they have been compiled or edited by the submitting person or the editorial staff. Copyright protection also applies with regard to databases and similar facilities. No part of this journal may be reproduced, disseminated or publicly reproduced or made available in any form, included in databases, stored on electronic data carriers or otherwise electronically reproduced, disseminated or exploited outside the narrow limits of copyright law or beyond the limits of any Creative Commons license applicable to any contribution without the written permission of the publisher. Articles identified by name do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the publisher/editors. The publisher observes the rules of the Börsenverein des Deutschen Buchhandels e.V. on the use of book reviews.

(Beiträge zum ausländischen öffentlichen Recht und Völkerrecht, vol. 343)

Published approx. June 2025

This research concerns the legal doctrine of human dignity in the general theory of fundamental rights in the Chilean constitutional order. This research further examines how the constitutional concept of human dignity has been treated in Germany, where the doctrinal work around human dignity has seen unparalleled evolution and development. The question of how one can benefit from comparative legal perspectives in general and the German perspective in particular will be discussed. Against this background, three dimensions of the German experience are of particular importance for the interpretation of the human dignity clause of the Chilean Constitution. The latter arises from three perspectives: the methodological, the dogmatic and the sociological.

Turkish and German Law in Comparison

Brückenschlag

Rechtsvergleichende Betrachtungen
zum deutschen und türkischen Recht

Edited by Dr. Karen Klein

In German Language

The German-Turkish relations have a long tradition. This specifically applies to the law in Turkey, some of which was adopted from Germany. Against this background, exciting questions regarding comparative law arise: How is the same problem solved in the other legal system? Do the two legal systems come to different solutions? Or is the result similar, but the path to it different? These questions are examined in nine articles with a specific focus on German and Turkish constitutional law, civil and criminal law as well as fundamental and human rights in order to contribute to a mutual (legal) understanding.
