

Acknowledgments

We would like to express our sincere gratitude for the opportunity to bring this book to fruition. When we began this project, we anticipated it would be far more challenging than it ultimately proved to be. At times, it felt as though doors were being opened for us along the way. For this, we are deeply thankful.

We are grateful to transcript for accepting our proposal, and to the State and University Library of Göttingen for providing the funding that made this volume available as open access.

Carol would like to thank José for first suggesting the idea for this book in an email. José, in turn, thanks Carol for embracing the proposal, despite the fact that we did not know each other at the time. We are both especially grateful for the friendship that has grown out of this collaboration.

Finally, we extend our thanks to all our contributors and interviewees for generously sharing their stories.
