

Ending Famine in India

A Transnational History of Food Aid and Development, ca. 1890-1950

JOANNA SIMONOW

LEIDEN
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Ending Famine in India

Global Connections: Routes and Roots

Global Connections: Routes and Roots explores histories that challenge existing demarcations between and within local, regional, and interregional arenas. The series encompasses single-site and vernacular histories as much as studies of long-distance connection.

This series seeks to bridge early modern and modern history. By taking a wide timeframe of c. 1200 to the present, we embrace the many and shifting nodal points, key regions, modes of transportation and other forms of connectivity that together form the “routes” and “roots” of global history. This includes the making and unmaking of power in different manifestations, as well as the intellectual genealogies and trajectories of the ideas that did so.

We welcome all work that explores the global as method. We stress the need to recover local primary sources as a way of investigating both the individual and the collective agency of all those involved in the making of the global.

Series Editors

Carolien Stolte, Leiden University

Mariana de Campos Francozo, Leiden University

Editorial Board

Ananya Chakravarti, Georgetown University

Scott Levi, The Ohio State University

Su Lin Lewis, Bristol University

Gerard McCann, University of York

Prasannan Parthasarathi, Boston College

Alessandro Stanziani, École des hautes études en sciences sociales

Heidi Tworek, University of British Columbia

Other titles in this series:

Bérénice Guyot-Réchart and Elisabeth Leake, South Asia Unbound: New International Histories of the Subcontinent, 2023

Carolien Stolte and Su Lin Lewis (eds), The Lives of Cold War Afro-Asianism, 2022

Harald Fischer-Tiné and Nico Slate (eds), The United States and South Asia from the Age of Empire to Decolonization: A History of Entanglements, 2022

Neilesh Bose (eds), India after World History: Literature, Comparison, and Approaches to Globalization, 2022

Jos Gommans and Ariel Lopez (eds), Philippine Confluence: Iberian, Chinese and Islamic Currents, c. 1500–1800, 2020

Michele Louro, Carolien Stolte, Heather Streets-Salter and Sana Tannoury-Karam (eds), The League Against Imperialism: Lives and Afterlives, 2020

ENDING FAMINE IN INDIA

A Transnational History of Food Aid and Development, c. 1890–1950

Joanna Simonow

LEIDEN UNIVERSITY PRESS

The Open Access edition was made possible by a grant from the Swiss National Science Foundation (SNF) for the promotion of scientific research.

Global Connections: Routes and Roots, volume 7

Cover design: Andre Klijsen

Cover illustration: Plates and mugs stored in place, from Siloam Girls' Boarding School, Tirukoilur, South India, 1974. Photo: Petersen, Erna. Danmission Photo Archive. <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/3.0/>

Lay-out: Crius Group

Every effort has been made to obtain permission to use all copyrighted illustrations reproduced in this book. Nonetheless, whosoever believes to have rights to this material is advised to contact the publisher.

ISBN 978 90 8728 404 6

e-ISBN 978 94 0060 449 0

<https://doi.org/10.24415/9789400604490>

NUR 692

© Joanna Simonow / Leiden University Press, 2023

All rights reserved. Without limiting the rights under copyright reserved above, no part of this book may be re-produced, stored in or introduced into a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means (electron-ic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise) without the written permission of both the publisher and the editors of the book.

Table of Contents

Figures and Tables	7
Acknowledgements	9
Abbreviations	11
Introduction	13
 Part I. Nutritional Science, Famine and Food Aid in South Asia
Chapter 1. The Limits of Famine Relief: Colonialism, Nutritional Science, and the Indian Social Service Movement, 1890s–1930s	23
Chapter 2. Food Technology, Nutritional Science, and Indo-US Entanglements in the 1940s and 1950s	49
 Part II. From Famine Relief to Community Development: The American Missionary Movement in South Asia
Chapter 3. Worldly Needs and Religious Opportunities: The Famine Relief of American Missionaries in Bombay, 1870s–1920s	71
Chapter 4. Promising Freedom from Famine: American Missionary Rural Reform, 1910s–1940s	95
 Part III. Anticolonial Famine Relief: Mobilising against Hunger and Colonialism
Chapter 5. Famine Amid Swadeshi and Swaraj, 1900s–1920s	113
Chapter 6. Famine Relief and Nationalist Politics on the Eve of Independence: The Bengal Famine of 1942–44	137

Chapter 7. American Food Aid for Independent India	165
Conclusion	193
Notes	195
Bibliography	245
Index	275

Figures and Tables

Fig. 1	British Food Supplements for Bengal. The Hindustan Times November 7, 1943.	50
Fig. 2.	The Karmarkar Family.	84
Fig. 3.	Victims of British Rule. Cover page the November edition of Free Hindusthan of 1908.	125
Fig. 4.	India. The Time for Mediation is now. An ad placed by the India League of America in the New York Times in 1942	168
Table 1.	Ration Sizes according to the Provisional Famine Code of 1883.	28

Acknowledgements

One of the most significant and yet basic insights that came out of writing this monograph is that there are no such things as single-authored books. This book builds on decades of research by other scholars who paved the way for my engagement with the topic, and it is also the result of numerous conversations during public and private gatherings of colleagues, friends and family members who generously shared their views. I benefitted from the helpful comments, constructive criticism and encouragement of a long list of persons in and outside academia who helped refining my arguments. Without these long and intense conversations, this book would not have taken shape. The labour of archivists and librarians in India, Britain and the US was equally essential to this book and I am thankful for their guidance. I am indebted to the Swiss National Science Foundation, the main sponsor of my research, as well as the British Association for South Asian Studies and the Marsilius Kolleg in Heidelberg for their generous support. As time went by, the list of universities and research groups that hosted my work grew; all of them deserve a note of gratitude. I began my book in the Department of History of the Modern World of ETH Zurich and finished revising the manuscript in the Department of History of the South Asia Institute Heidelberg. I am particularly grateful for the mentoring, collegial support and infrastructure provided in both places. I thank the editors of the book series and the staff of LUP who guided me through the publication process. Despite all this support, I take responsibility for unintentional misconstructions and flaws that readers might detect in the following pages.

Among the people I wish to profusely thank for helping me to get this book off the ground, for commenting on earlier drafts of chapters or creating occasions to test my ideas, are (in no particular order) Harald Fischer-Tiné, Ravi Ahuja, Johannes Paulmann, Maria Framke, Elena Valdameri, Katharina Stornig, Bernhard Schär, Soni, Michael Brunner, Philipp Krauer, Andreas Greiner, Sujeet George, Nikolay Kamenov, Anindita Nag, Margarete Pratschke, Robert Kramm, Martina Andermatt, Monique Ligtenberg, Sönke Bauck, Judith Große, Stephanie Willi, Vasudha Bharadwaj, Srimanjari, Nitin Sinha, Prakash Kumar, Kama Maclean, Benjamin Siegel, Aditya Ramesh, Nico Slate and Sonam Dechen Gurung. Last but not least, I can only fail to adequately express my appreciation to Tim, whose genius and generosity are immeasurable and contributed to this book in countless ways.

Abbreviations

ABCFM	American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions
ABP	Amrita Bazar Patrika
AFSC	American Friends Service Committee
AIHH&PH	All-India Institute of Hygiene and Public Health
AIWC	All-India Women's Conference
AMM	American Marathi Mission
BMCC	Bengal Medical Coordination Committee
BRC	Bengal Relief Committee
BWRS	British War Relief Society
CFTRI	Central Food Technological Research Institute
CPA	Communist Party of Australia
CPGB	Communist Party of Great Britain
CPI	Communist Party of India
FAU	Friends Ambulance Unit
IFEC	India Famine Emergency Committee
IFRC	India Famine Relief Committee
IPTA	Indian People's Theatre Association
IRFA	Indian Research Fund Association
IVS	India Village Service
MARS	Mahila Atma Raksha Samiti
MFM	Meals for Millions
MPF	Multi-Purpose Food
NAC	Nutrition Advisory Committee
NCCI	National Christian Council of India
NMML	Nehru Memorial Museum and Library
NPC	National Planning Committee
PHM	People's History Museum
PRC	People's Relief Committee
PSS	Poona Sarvajanik Sabha
SVM	Student Volunteer Movement
TWI	Training Within Industry

