MIDDLESEX DECLARATION 2004

1	MIDDLESEX DECLARATION OF EUROPE'S PRECARIAT 2004
2	London - Middlesex University
3	We networkers and fleximers of Northern and Southern Europe, autonomously gathered at 4	Middlesex University and determined to go beyond crippling ESF, solemnly join minds and
5	bodies in the present declaration of conflict against Europe's governments and corporate
6	bureaucracies. We denounce police harassment and persecution of activists in London. We
7	express our unwavering determination to fight against enforced precarity and for the right to a
8	secure and decent living all over Europe. We will act to assert the rights of all humans within
9	Europe regardless of where they were born or how long they have been here. We demand
10	freedom of migration into and within the EU.
11	On April 2nd, a common day of action will see all of us joining migrants' struggles for free
12	movement across borders, with mobilizations in more than 40 european cities. We will employ
13	all methods of direct action and subvertising at our disposal to support strikes, pickets,
14	stoppages, boycotts, blockades, sabotages, protests all over Europe. We agree to shape a
15	transeuropean network of movements and collectives determined to agitate against
16	freemarketeers for social rights valid for all human beings living in Europe.
17	We have decided to prepare for a common EURO MAYDAY 2005, to be held on May 1st in all
18	of Europe's major cities, calling for angry temps, disgruntled parttimers, frustrated unemployed,
19	raging immigrants and labor activists to mobilize against precarity and inequality, in order to
20	reclaim flexibility from managers and executives: we demand flexicurity against flexploitation.
21	We will gather in Berlin in midJanuary 2005 to decide a common protest action against the
22	sanctuaries of EU power, in order to launch euromaydays and the supporting structured
23	network of labor radicalism and media activism tentatively called NEU, Networkers of Europe
24	United. We call onto all our European sisters and brothers, be they autonomous marxists,
25	postindustrial anarchists, syndicalists, feminists, antifas, queers, anarchogreens, hacktivists,
26	cognitive workers, casualized laborers, outsourced and/or subcontracted employees and the like, to network and organize for a common social and political action in Europe. We are eurogeneration insurgent: our idea of Europe is a radical, libertarian, transnationalist, antidystopian, open democratic space able to counter global bushism and oppressive, exploitative, powermad, planetwrecking, warmongering neoliberalism in Europe and elsewhere.
