

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgements
Darcy White, Julia Peck, and Chris Goldie	7
Introduction
Darcy White, Julia Peck, and Chris Goldie	9
Visualizing the Pristine: the role of imagery in local stewardship of landscape
Flora Mary Bartlett	25
Scene and Unseen: (Re-)envisioning the Arctic Imaginary through Photography
Liz Wells	47
Data Rush: How ‘Green’ Computing is Opening Up a New Frontier in Arctic Norway
Janna Frenzel	75
Northern landscape, process, conjuncture
Chris Goldie	95
Ecological entanglements: embodied surfaces and screens in the work of Victoria Lucas
Stephanie Hartle	123
Northern landscapes with a story. The affordances of the aerial view in environmental photography
Jonas Harvard, Mats Hyvönen	143

The Experimental Darkroom: case studies in northern landscape through the material ecology of photographs
Aileen Harvey	169
Mapping the Anthropocene: Beautiful Destruction and Dark Ecology
Inge Panneels	203
Imperial and geopolitical relationships in Inupiaq climate change narratives: extinction and cultural survival in The Last Days of Shishmaref
Julia Peck	231
Screening Arctic Landscapes in Nordic Television Drama: Anthropocenic Imaginaries, Ecological Crises, National Identities
Robert A. Saunders, Irina Souch, Anne Marit Waade	257
The future made present: Photographs of climate change victims in the Norwegian newspaper Arbeiderbladet 1948 – 2006
Thale Sørli	283
On getting “in the way of the world”: the work of Helene Schmitz and the urgency of decolonising the Western gaze.
Darcy White	309
Illustrations	335
Biographies of Contributors	341