

Contents

---

Acknowledgements .....	7
Introduction .....	11
1.1 Structure.....	13
1.2 Methodology.....	14
1.3 Challenges.....	16
1.4 Current State of Research.....	18
A History of Trauma .....	25
2.1 Railway Spine.....	27
2.2 Hysteria .....	28
2.3 Traumatic Neurosis and Shell Shock .....	32
2.4 Traumatic Neurosis of War.....	36
2.5 The Unrepresentable in Psychoanalysis .....	38
2.6 Female Trauma.....	41
2.7 PTSD .....	42
2.8 Body-Memory: Traces of Trauma .....	45
2.9 Collective Trauma and Terror.....	50
2.10 Cultural Trauma as a Social Construct.....	54
2.11 Truth and Trauma .....	57
Challenging Trauma as the Unrepresentable .....	59
3.1 The Testimony: Transmitting Trauma, Performing Trauma.....	61
3.2 Secondary Traumatisation .....	64
3.3 Empathy as a Mode of Perception.....	67
3.4 The Unrepresentable in Trauma Studies .....	69
3.5 The Unrepresentable in the Aesthetic Theory of Adorno and Lyotard .....	77
3.6 Challenging Trauma as the Unrepresentable.....	83
3.7 Are Some Things Unrepresentable? .....	85
3.8 Intolerable Images .....	90
3.9 "To Remember, One Must Imagine" .....	93

3.10 "The Exercise Of Art" .....	95
Trauma Narratives .....	101
4.1 Omer Fast.....	103
4.2 Janet Cardiff and George Bures Miller .....	126
4.3 An Infinite Story .....	145
Trauma Spaces .....	149
5.1 Paul McCarthy .....	152
5.2 Forensic Architecture .....	172
5.3 Memories in Motion .....	194
Trauma – Curational Perspectives .....	199
6.1 Space and Time Frame.....	202
6.2 Traumatized Art.....	204
6.3 Trauma in the Contemporary Art Museum .....	207
6.4 Contemporary Art on Conflict and Trauma in the War Museum .....	218
6.5 Aesthetic Strategies .....	225
Conclusion and Outlook .....	231
Bibliography .....	239
List of Figures .....	255