

Contents

Editor’s Note	7
An Introduction	9
“Living in a Material World,” Contemplating the Immaterial One—Musings on What Sounds Can Actually Tell Us, or Not Emile Wennekes (Utrecht University)	15
The (Re)Construction of Communicative Pasts in the Digital Age Changes, Challenges, and Chances in Digital Transformation Christian Schwarzenegger (University of Augsburg)	31
The Narratological Architecture of Musical lieux de mémoire A Transmedial Perspective on Antonio Stradivari Matej Santi (University of Music and Performing Arts Vienna)	51
Beethoven in 1970, Bernstein and the ORF: Cultural Memory and the Audiovisual Cornelia Szabó-Knotik (University of Music and Performing Arts Vienna)	81
Women’s Voices in Radio Julia Jaklin (University of Music and Performing Arts Vienna)	107
‘Real Sound,’ Readymade, Handmade: Musical Material and the Medium Between Mechanization, Automation, and Digitalization as an Impression and Expression of Reality An Implicit Call for Real Interdisciplinarity Hanns-Werner Heister	119

Sonic Icons in A Song Is Born (1948): A Model for an Audio History of Film
Winfried Pauleit (University of Bremen)	151
The Production, Reception and Cultural Transfer of Operetta on Early Sound Film
Derek B. Scott (University of Leeds)	169
The Address of the Ear: Music and History in Waltz with Bashir
Rasmus Greiner (University of Bremen)	183
“I’ve never understood the passion for Schubert’s sentimental Viennese shit”—Using Metadata to Capture the Contexts of Film Music
Elias Berner (University of Music and Performing Arts Vienna)	197
Connecting Research: The Interdisciplinary Potential of Digital Analysis in the Context of A. Kluge’s Televisual Corpus
Birgit Haberpeuntner and Klaus Illmayer (University of Vienna and Austrian Academy of Science)	217
Modelling in Digital Humanities: An Introduction to Methods and Practices of Knowledge Representation
Franziska Diehr (Prussian Cultural Heritage Foundation)	241
Playing with a Web of Music: Connecting and Enriching Online Music Repositories
David M. Weigl and Werner Goebel (University of Music and Performing Arts Vienna) ..	263
A Few Notes on the Auditive Layer of the Film ★
Johann Lurf (Artist and filmmaker)	283
Afterword
John Corner (University of Leeds)	287
List of Contributors	293